City To Greet Bobby, Home in Triumph, Today

CEREMONY BANNED AS ATLANTA PLANS SIMPLE WELCOME

Mayor Ragsdale and Heads of Local Civic Groups Will Assist in Greeting Champion.

BRINGS TITLE BACK FOR THIRD TIME

Wizard of the Links Now Wearing His Ninth Major Crown In 7 Years of Golf Competition.

Atlanta's king returns today from the wars. Bob Jones is coming home. Atlanta's stocky, quiet wizard of the links is returning with his ninth major golfing title in seven years of competition.

Atlanta, greeter of many celebrities, will turn out for Bob, to give him the welcome he most desires—a simple and sincere greeting, to let him know that his own people are proud of him. No fuss, pomp or ceremony.

Atlanta will be out in full force at the Peachtree station when the Piedmont Limited, bearing the world's greatest golfer, "grinds to a stop at 3.30 o'clock. They'll tell Bob, "Howdy," the mayor will greet him and a committee of representatives from the city hall, chamber of commerce, junior chamber of commerce, and Georgia state golfers. There'll be a hand to play a piece or two.

Quick Greeting Planned.

But Bob will not have to stand in the hot sun and listen to orators eulogize him, and his golfing ability. There will be no long, hot tiresome parade downtown. The people will be there, greet him when he comes, and then the king is free to go home, lay aside his crown and become for another year Robert T. Jones, Jr., attorney-at-law, and not Bob Jones, competing against the rest of all the good golfers in the world.

It is the way Bob likes to come home, and a greeting like that means more and says more than all the speeches, parades and ceremonies the world has ever seen.

A delegation of Bob's close friends from the Atlanta Athletic Club will be there to greet him this afternoon. "But," said Scott Hudson, president of the club, Monday afternoon, "There will be no hand-shaking, no committee, no speech-making."

Ceremony Taboo.

"We are going to let Bob do exactly what he wants to do; get in his car and go home, without any ceremony whatsoever."

"We hope that everybody in Atlanta will be at the station to cheer him and show him that Atlanta is proud of him as its greatest civic asset."

With Bob will be Mrs. Jones, who watched him wade through a great field of golfers, to finally win the national title in a play-off of 26 holes with Al Espinosa, of Chicago, beating the latter by the crushing margin of 23 strokes. He brings back with him the huge silver cup emblematic of the national open championship. This is the third time Bob has brought back to Atlanta—golfing capital of

100 Million Road Proposal Offered By Senator Myrick

ITALIAN EDUCATION POLICY IS LAUDED BY DR. CASTELLANI

Head of Women's Organization Heard at General Session—New Officers Are Nominated.

The fascist policy of education has acted like a beneficent earthquake, owing to the personal interest of the "duce" and the vigor with which he has pressed his program, Dr. Martha Castellani, national president of the Italian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, told the National Education Association Monday night at the auditorium in a general session which brought to a close a day's program replete with interest for delegates to the sixty-seventh annual convention.

Dr. Augustus O. Thomas, of Augusta, Maine, president of the World Federation of Education Associations, and Anna P. McVay, administrative assistant and dean of Wadleigh High School, Brooklyn, N. Y., were the other speakers on Monday night's program.

Nomination of Miss E. Ruth Pyrtle, of Lincoln, Neb., and Miss Effie MacGregor, of Minneapolis, Minn., for president of the association featured the first session of the representative assembly Monday morning. Seventeen educators, including Professor Willis A. Sutton, Atlanta school superintendent, were nominated for the 11 vice presidencies. The elections will be held Wednesday.

Pageant on Program.

Today's program of the association includes presentation tonight of a colorful pageant, "The Republic of Tomorrow," and the report of the committee on investigation of propaganda in schools will be submitted.

State Control Hit.

Dean William F. Russell, of the Teachers' College, Columbia University, Monday morning at the general session, declared that the United States finds itself in danger of a bureaucracy shaping the education of its children if it yields to the pressure being made to bring about a federal control of schools in Russia, before the war and in Russia and Italy today as undemocratic and liberty-destroying tendencies the hatred of which has been a characteristic of Americans since the birth of the nation.

J. C. Wright, director of the federal board of vocational education, declared that the school of hard work is often unrecognized as a means of getting an education, for too many people think an education can only be secured through a study of books, and neglect to value the experiences which in the long-run counts more in

ATLANTA SLEUTHS SEEK COMPANIONS OF SLAIN TEACHER

Man "With Black Eye" and "Small Man Wearing Overalls" Now Object of Wide Hunt.

Falling to get under arrest the one man identified as the companion of Professor Alexander H. Johnson a few hours before the Hartwell educator was battered to death in his motor car late Saturday night or early Sunday morning, the police Monday night were off on new trails of a "tall man with a black eye" seen with Johnson several places Saturday night as well as a "small man wearing overalls," who was seen with the teacher immediately after his arrival from Hartwell.

Though one of their main hopes of linking O. C. Gossett, 40, the man in custody, with the mysterious murder of Johnson had been dissipated when T. M. Shackelford, one of the few men who saw Johnson and his companions Saturday night, stated positively after viewing Gossett at police headquarters that he was not the man. Detective John W. Lowe, who arrested Gossett Sunday afternoon at Spring and Elliott streets, said Monday night that he would continue to hold the prisoner until others who had seen Johnson and his companion had attempted to identify him.

Shackelford Gave Tip.

It was Shackelford who sent the police on the hunt for Johnson's reported second companion. Shackelford, garage foreman for the F. E. Maffett Motor Company, 425 Spring street, appeared at police headquarters about an hour after Gossett was taken into custody. He said that Johnson and two men, one a tall man with a black eye and the second wearing overalls, came to his shop early Saturday night seeking repairs for the motor car in which his battered body was found 12 hours later.

"There were two men with Johnson," Shackelford said. "All three got out of the car and told me of the engine trouble Johnson was having. He told me the parts necessary to fix the machine were in the car and that he would return to the Southern Automobile Equipment Company, on Forsyth street."

Gossett will be held, Lowe said, until he has been viewed by W. W. Wise, an employee of the Southern Company, who was the first person to report seeing Johnson in Atlanta Saturday night.

Meanwhile the police continued to check Johnson's car and his arrival in Atlanta but thus far they have been able to trace him only up to his rooming house at 1212 W. Peachtree street, where he is believed to have been slain some time around midnight.

Had Gone Toward Station.

Lowman was assigned to work on the case with Detective Stephens and Taylor Monday, said that he had learned that Johnson had gone toward the station and that the car was found in his motor car Sunday morning.

Johnson and his "tall, eye-black" companion and minus the small man in overalls appeared at 9 o'clock Saturday night at the grocery of Mack Rich, 216 Linden avenue. It was there, according to Lowe, that Johnson made the second of his two telephone calls to his sister, Mrs. J. R. Wakefield, 1541 Gordon street, telling her that he would spend the night at her home, arriving there later. He was in the car when the police arrived at the station and he was seen alive.

"Johnson was well acquainted with Rich and often had visited his store," Lowe said.

LOWMAN DENIES HE WILL RESIGN

Mellon Refutes Rumors of Dry Aid Quitting; Official Hands Press Quotation By Clay.

Washington, July 1.—(United News.)—Assistant Secretary of Treasury Seymour Lowman, in charge of prohibition enforcement, met inquiries today about President Hoover's request for his resignation by handing out a typewritten slip bearing a quotation of political disillusionment credited to Henry Clay.

The quotation reads: "I know that politics inevitably ends sooner or later in tragedy, the tragedy of defeat. Sporadic fame or national prominence is, after all, ashes in a man's mouth."

Lowman's secretary handed the typewritten slips about to newspapermen gathered in the outer office. It was hinted that Lowman meant the quotation for a joke upon newspaper correspondents, and he tried to convey that impression later.

After handing out the quotation, Lowman proceeded to deny again that he had been asked to resign or intended to resign when pressed by newspapermen for an interpretation of it.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Undersecretary Ogden L. Mills, who was influential in securing Lowman's appointment, supported him with their denials.

Lowman's predecessor, Lincoln C. Andrews, submitted his resignation. The news got out, and then administration officials prevailed upon him to withdraw it. He told close friends he had quit and was going to Europe. Instead, he withdrew his resignation, went to Europe as planned, and then returned, remaining in office several months longer.

Mellon issued a formal denial late today after he had made an informal denial earlier.

Hoover Is Silent.

President Hoover has made no official statement.

Lowman said: "I will repeat that I have not been asked to resign, and that I am not resigning."

Mills confirmed the report of Saturday that Lowman had been at the White House in the last few days. Lowman merely explained Saturday that he had not seen the president for three weeks, and said nothing of his alleged visit to the White House, but had called at the White House, but had not seen the president.

Lowman later admitted that he went to the White House one night last week. He said he carried with him one of the new White House dismissal forms but explained that it related to a prohibition official west of the Mississippi river. Both Mellon and Mills confirmed this version of Lowman's White House visit.

Not until today had anything been said about the prohibition official in the west. Both Mellon and Mills declined to reveal his identity.

Georgia Power Company Contributes $150 to Tour Expenses; Souvenir Program to Be Given Away.

Beeler Blevins, veteran Atlanta pilot, Monday was selected by the "All-Georgia Air Tour" executive committee to make the second pathfinder trip in preparation for the July statewide air tour. C. F. Dieter, president of the Atlanta chapter, National Aeronautic Association and general manager of the tour, will accompany Blevins in his Challenger biplane to confer with local committees on the route.

Final details of the pathfinder's schedule, which makes Douglas the overnight stop, were approved Monday by a joint meeting of the air tour executive and finance committees.

$150 From Power Company.

The finance committee, of which John K. Otley, Jr., is chairman, announced that the Georgia Power Company had made a cash contribution of $150 to the expenses of the air tour as its part in furthering aviation in this state. The contribution was unanimously accepted by the committee, which tendered its appreciation to the power company.

The executive and finance committees decided to have printed a souvenir program which will be given free at all stops on the July tour along with literature which the staff of aeronautics consultants will carry as part of the educational benefits of the project.

The program will carry the names of the general committee in charge of the air tour, a map showing the route of the tour and the two pathfinder trips, a schedule of the stops, lunch points and overnight controls and other information. The committee decided that the program should not be large that it could be given away in keeping with the plans to keep every commercial aspect out of the air tour.

Dublin, today's luncheon and refueling city, telegraphed Monday that the pathfinder party would be guests for the noon meal and that the Challenger plane would be refueled for the balance of the day's flight.

Douglas, the first night control, telegraphed that the city will be glad to have an opportunity to entertain the pathfinder party. Douglas will

COUNCIL SUSTAINS HIKE IN PARK FEES

Finance Committee Adverses Resolution By Councilman Robert M. Cobb, Jr., Asking Lower Charges.

Atlanta park fees will remain as they were fixed by the parks committee of city council and the committee will continue to administer affairs of the system, it was decided Monday afternoon by city council.

A resolution offered at the last meeting of council by Robert M. Cobb, Jr., councilman from the ninth ward, to reduce the fees, was returned to the finance committee with an adverse report, and council accepted it.

At the same time, Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward and chairman of the parks committee of council, declared that more persons used Atlanta's golf courses Sunday than ever in the history of the system.

There were 1,208 persons on the three municipally operated courses Sunday as against 1,009 for June 16, 1928, the highest figure before Sunday's record. This was despite the increased fee, which has been the bone of contention in the battle waged for the past several days.

Members of the Atlanta park ground directors Monday passed resolutions commending this system and officials for the progress which the parks have made under the present arrangement. The resolutions were signed by Mrs. Chester Johnson, supervisor, and were passed by the directors at the regular weekly meeting at the city hall.

Golf course attendance statistics which Mr. White released showed that 442 played at Piedmont course; 450 at the Key and 316 at the Candler courses.

Piedmont Lake Dragged to Find Body of Youth

Piedmont lake was dragged several hours until late Monday night in an effort to recover the body of an 8-year-old boy who is thought to have drowned there before the swimming pool was closed at 9:30 o'clock. The only clue with which police and park officials had to work was a pair of brown overall jumpers, size 8, which were found in locker No. 389 in the dressing room. The overalls bore a small laundry tag which was marked "PS125."

It is thought by park officials that the child was drowned in the deep portion of the lake where the water reaches a mark of 35 to 40 feet. Dragging from 9:30 until after 11 o'clock revealed nothing. John A. White, chairman of the parks commission of the city council, led in the effort to recover the body, if there is any body confined beneath the water of the lake.

THREE OUTLYING TOWNS INCLUDED IN COUCH'S PAPER

East Point, College Park and Hapeville Added to Area Proposed by Gillingham.

REFERENDUM PLAN IS ALSO ADOPTED

Resolution Asks That People in Affected Areas as Well as Those in City Be Allowed To Vote on Measure.

By HERMAN D. HANCOCK.

City council Monday afternoon voted 25 to 9 to double the size of the municipality and increase the population by at least 75,000 when it approved a resolution asking the Georgia legislature to sanction annexation of about 30 square miles of territory included in a comprehensive extension program.

Despite a stubborn fight by opponents of annexation, the measure was pushed over subject to a favorable referendum in which all residents of the affected areas and citizens of Atlanta are to participate.

Mayor's Approval Seen.

The paper will go to Mayor I. N. Ragsdale this morning for his approval, and predictions were that he would give his approval at once.

If the measure is approved East Point, College Park and Hapeville and intervening territory will be annexed on the southern side of the city, including the thickly settled residential sections of Dackwood.

The northern boundary of Atlanta in Fulton county will extend beyond Buckhead, nearly to the junction of Roswell and Piedmont roads and include Pace's Ferry road, Andrews drive, Haynes Manor, the Collier estates, Peachtree Hills, Brookwood Hills, parts of Garden Hills and other thickly populous sections.

Druid Hills will be included with the west line of the city of Decatur as the eastern boundary of Atlanta and the east line will follow the Seaboard railway until it strikes the east line of lot 4 in the northern section of Fulton county. East Lake golf course also would be included.

West End will be extended westward three land lots and southward so as to include the newly acquired John A. White park.

Balked in an effort to stage a lengthy filibuster, opponents of the bill were forced to content themselves with serving notice of reconsideration when council passed an appropriation for $150 which was to be used in advertising the charter amendment. Council passed the advertising fund immediately after it had approved the annexation paper, but Councilman Harry York, of the sixth ward, one

No Violation To Take Drink, Court Rules

If Owner Offers Booze It Is Quite All Right, Decision.

Asheville, N. C., July 1.—(AP)—No law is violated by a person consuming liquor at the invitation of the owner the United States circuit court of appeals ruled today in an opinion handed down in the case of the Zurich General Liability Insurance Company, Ltd., of Switzerland, appealing from a judgment secured against it by Mrs. S. A. Flickinger, of Norfolk, Va.

Judge John J. Parker, of Charlotte, affirmed the decision of the district court at Norfolk, Va., which held that she could collect on an insurance held by her son, S. P. Flickinger, who, it was agreed, died from drinking while alcohol served in gin cocktails to him by friends. The young man, his fiancée and the wife of his host died from the consumption of the cocktails. The company had contended their deaths were due to the negligence of the insured, who had violated the prohibition law.

Marshallville, Ga., July 1.—(AP)—A huge rattlesnake more than six feet long and almost five inches in circumference, participated in the services held at the Methodist church here yesterday by Rev. M. T. Webb. Only the pastor was aware of the presence of the reptile.

The pastor was expounding the doctrine of his faith, when to emphasize one of his remarks Rev. Mr. Webb threw his glance heavenward. His voice died away but his glance remained—peering over one of the globes in the chandelier into which it was coiled was the snake, its beady eyes fixed on the pastor as if it too was enjoying the sermon.

Rev. Mr. Webb, realizing the panic and pandemonium that would ensue if the congregation knew of the snake's presence, continued on with the service. At its conclusion he gathered several members of his board of stewards together and with a long pole dispatched the unwelcome visitor.

Jonesboro, Ga., July 1.—(Special.)—Electrical distribution system of the city of Jonesboro tonight was sold to the Georgia Power Company for $125,000, following action of city council in accepting offer of the power company. The company will take charge of the system August 1, it was said.

Proceeds of the sale will be used by the city in the construction of complete and modern sewerage system, council decided.

Calles, Mexico's Strong Man, To Leave for Long-Planned Rest; May Take World Tour

General May Even Take Up Residence Abroad To Satisfy Wish to Isolate Self.

Mexico City, July 1.—(AP)—General Plutarco Elias Calles, "strong man" of Mexico for nearly five years, who has held the destiny of the republic in his hand and brought the government through a protracted era of trouble, at last is to have the vacation and rest he looked forward to last November when he relinquished the reins to Provisional President Emilio Portes Gil.

Calles is to leave Vera Cruz July 7 for Europe, with the possibility he may make a world tour. General Calles may even take up residence abroad, inasmuch as he has been unable, while living here, to isolate himself completely from governmental and political problems.

Having publicly announced on more than one occasion that the only thing that would bring him back into public life was the threatened life of the government or threatened peace and tranquility of the country, General Calles now sees an era of peace and harmony ahead and hopes to withdraw completely from the picture of Mexico's internal affairs.

The news of his forthcoming trip came on the very day that churches within Mexico City, priestless for nearly three years, were being returned in groups to the priests and masses were resumed.

General Calles has had few moments to call his own of late. Hardly had he left the presidency than the Escobar military revolution broke out. He immediately accepted the post of secretary of war and worked tirelessly for more than two months putting down the revolutionists.

Soon after his return from the front, gestures of peace were exchanged between church and state and General Calles turned his attention to the negotiations, working constantly for their success. He finally saw terms reached corresponding in large measure with the basis of the agreement he had negotiated with the church more than a year before.

His itinerary has not been made known, but it is understood that he will visit South America unless he decides to remain permanently in Europe.

MACON WILL GET SEARS, ROEBUCK DEPARTMENT UNIT

Chicago, July 1.—(AP)—Sears-Roebuck & Company today announced the extension of its chain of large department stores into cities of less than 75,000 population. New department stores for cities in the Springfield, Ohio, the stores in each case replacing smaller retail units. Property has been leased and construction plans started.

The company also announced small retail stores will be established in Columbus, Ind.; Gastonia, N. C., and Macon, Ga.

SLAYER CALMLY WALKS TO CHAIR MUTTERING PRAYER

Columbus, Ohio, July 1.—(AP)—James T. Nevin, Detroit, was electrocuted in the death chair at 8:48 o'clock tonight for the slaying of Don Prentiss, his cellmate in the Cuyahoga county jail, Cleveland, November 15, 1928.

He went to the chair calmly, with the benediction of a Roman Catholic priest as his final spiritual consolation.

Nevin had threatened to kill Warden E. E. Thomas before he died. He had threatened that he would take his own life before the state could exact its penalty for his crime. He walked to the chair on the arm of the priest, Rev. Father O'Brien, holding a ten-inch crucifix in his hands and muttering a prayer.

ARKANSAS INCOME TAX LAW UPHeld BY COURT

Decision of Supreme Court Is 4 to 3 Favoring New Measure.

Little Rock, July 1.—(AP)—By a 4 to 3 decision the state supreme court today upheld constitutionality of the Hall net income tax law passed by the last legislature. Justices Kirby, Smith and Humphreys dissented from the majority opinion.

The court also declared valid the emergency clause of the act, holding that an alleged substitution of an emergency clause for the original one approved by the legislature did not affect its legality.

Chief Justice Hart wrote the opinion.

Among the grounds of attack on the tax law was the contention it was a property tax and therefore was in violation of the United States constitution. The court held it was not a property tax.

The ruling that the emergency clause was valid served to make the law effective immediately despite the filing of petitions for a referendum to annul the law. Had the emergency clause been invalidated the referendum petitions would have forestalled enforcement of the law until the referendum at the general election next year.

The tax law is retroactive to apply to 1928 incomes and David A. Gates, state commissioner of revenue, to whom is given the task of enforcing it, said he will immediately start organizing his collection machinery.

FOUR MEN KILLED WHEN CAR PLUNGES FROM CROSSING

Washburn, N. D., July 1.—(AP)—An automobile crashed through a trestle on an overhead crossing near here yesterday, falling 35 feet to the tracks and killing four men. A fifth man in the car was injured.

Witnesses said the motor car appeared out of control as it approached the crossing, swerving through the rail as it neared the top of the grade.

REMOVAL OF MAN HELD FOR GEORGIA MURDER GRANTED

Tallahassee, Fla., July 1.—(AP)—Governor Doyle E. Carlton today granted a requisition for the extradition of Aubrey Carlyle Hoover from Daytona Beach to Ocala, Fla., where he is wanted in connection with the killing of Harry Loving three years ago. The requisition, sent here by Governor Harlan, of Georgia, was considered by Assistant Attorney-General Roy Campbell.

He recommended Hoover's extradition after hearing arguments by Keth Lawing, attorney for Hoover, and Solicitor-General Fox of Ocala. Hoover was arrested some time ago and since has been held in jail at Daytona Beach.

TENNESSEE GOVERNOR FIRES LABOR CHIEF

Rearrangement of Cabinet by Horton Causes Little Surprise.

Nashville, Tenn., July 1.—(AP)—Governor Henry Horton shook up his cabinet again today and James M. Southall was appointed to succeed Ed Gillenwaters as commissioner of labor. Southall has been chief clerk in the treasurer's office more than two years. Gillenwaters had been labor commissioner more than seven years. Governor Horton's terse message to Gillenwaters that he would not be reappointed caused little flurry in official circles, as it was expected.

The change was the sixth the governor has made since he entered office at the death of the late Governor Peay and the third since March.

Authentic reports about two weeks ago said Southall would succeed Gillenwaters, and Saturday it became known the change would be made today. The governor wrote Gillenwaters this morning that he would not be reappointed, and said Southall would take over the office July 10.

JAPAN'S CABINET RESIGNS, MACHADO CALLS HAMAGACHI

Tokyo, July 2.—(Tuesday)—(AP)—Premier Baron Tanaka went to the palace at 9:30 a. m. today to present the resignation of his cabinet to Emperor Hiro Hito. Yugo Hamaguchi, liberal Minseitō leader, was summoned to the palace shortly afterward.

Prince Saionji, former premier and one of the "gentle" or so-called elder statesmen, also was summoned, presumably to advise his imperial majesty with regard to a new cabinet.

EUFULA BANK CLOSED; PRESIDENT IN JAIL

Huge Shortage Expected as Officials Check Over Bank's Books.

Montgomery, Ala., July 1.—(AP)—United States bank examiners were auditing the books of the East Alabama National bank, at Eufaula, Ala., today, following the surrender to Montgomery county authorities here yesterday of Allen Merrill Brown, 51, president of the institution. The shortage was expected to exceed $75,000. W. A. Jordan, United States commissioner, said.

A warrant charging the bank president with violation of the national banking laws was sworn out before the commissioner this morning and he was arraigned a few minutes later. Preliminary hearing was set for July 10 and bond fixed at $10,000. Brown was remanded to jail when he announced that he would be unable to make bail.

Brown left the bank Saturday afternoon, leaving a note to the directors advising them of the shortage. He also notified federal bank examiners to take over the affairs of the institution. In his jail cell the banker declined to discuss the shortage other than to say that "you may say for me that I am short in my accounts and am willing to pay for it by working it out."

Jordan quoted Brown as stating that the shortage would run between $75,000 and $100,000 and that the withdrawals had extended over a period of five years. The banker was accompanied here by his wife, a daughter and a son, all of whom have registered at a local hotel.

Brown is a native of Eufaula and was recognized as one of the leading bankers of the state. He had been president of the bank since 1922, serving as cashier up to that time since identifying himself with the bank in 1903.

The bank was established in 1886. He told federal authorities that a large portion of the money was directed toward the upkeep of his 1,300-acre farm in Barbour county.

BURNING BODY OF MAN IS FOUND ON ILLINOIS ROAD

Annawan, Ill., July 1.—(AP)—The body of an unidentified man was found burning on a little-used country road two miles west of here last night by two boys.

It was wrapped in a patch-work quilt soaked in gasoline. A jug near by, believed to have contained gasoline, was wrapped in a Peoria, Ill., paper dated June 24.

Dr. J. M. Young, who examined the body, said the man, who was about 45 years old, had been dead about 12 hours. He said a blow on the head caused death.

The only clue was the imprint of a woman's high-heeled shoe in the mud.

Identification of the man may be made by tracing his false teeth. Sheriff Charles Nash, of Henry county, said tonight.

Change Hollows to Curves in Few Weeks with New IRONIZED YEAST—or Pay Nothing

Mrs. George Decker and Daughter

People gain 5 to 15 pounds in a few weeks. Skinny limbs round into chubby curves. Pimples skin clears up. Tired feeling vanishes.

Why IRONIZED YEAST Works so Quickly
IRONIZED YEAST is two tonics in one. Weight building YEAST and 2 kinds of blood-enriching IRON. The Yeast is Violet Rye yeast to increase weight-building values. We concentrate it so that 12 sacks of raw, live YEAST make only 1/2 SACK of the concentrate which goes into IRONIZED YEAST. You can easily see why each small tablet of this new IRONIZED YEAST gives you quick, EXTRA, weight-building results through this 24-to-1 concentration. Only when Yeast is ironized is it most effective; for blood-enriching iron is needed to bring out the weight-building, strengthening values of Yeast. Pleasant tablets. No "yeasty" taste. No gas or bloating.

Try it on Money-Back Offer
Go to any drugist today. Get a full size treatment of IRONIZED YEAST. If, after this generous trial, you are not delighted, return your money back—from drugist or manufacturer.

POSTER IN SUTTER BOOTH IN EXHIBIT HALL IS REMOVED

An apparently inoffensive art poster with the lines "My Home Is My Castle," situated within a few inches of where Miss Anna Sutter, head of the educational and statistical department of the National Education Association exhibit hall Monday was missing from its accustomed place following a story and picture in The Constitution which drew attention to the poster.

Removal of the art poster was not the work of Miss Sutter, however, it was explained at the booth. Miss Sutter occupies space in a booth leased by a Virginia art school and the poster had been placed upon the booth wall as a portion of the school's exhibit. Reading the story and seeing the picture in Sunday morning's Constitution, the art school's officials took the poster down Monday morning and replaced it with another upon a different subject.

The poster was removed so as to avoid unpleasant publicity for the art school, it was explained by an official of the school, Miss Sutter was not at her booth Monday afternoon.

W. D. UPSHAW PRAISES CAMPAIGN FOR BONDS

Former Congressman Telegraphs Constitution on State Highway Issue Fight.

Former Congressman William D. Upshaw Monday wired from Sprucepine, N. C., his congratulations to The Constitution and all who are fighting for highway bonds, following publication in The Constitution of a statement from Governor Max Gardner of North Carolina outlining the favorable bond situation in that state.

His telegram follows: "Having read your published wire to Governor Max Gardner and his illuminating statesman-like reply concerning the successful operation of North Carolina's superb highway system, I feel constrained to congratulate you and all who are fighting with you in Georgia for 'More roads and better roads through bonds.' As a loyal Georgian whose state pride has been punctured and humiliated widely over the nation by hearing Georgia's roads criticized and laughed at by the tourist public, I find myself devoutly hoping that this legislature will promptly pave the way for Georgia's emancipation without registering any sort of indictment of highway management thus far.

"I give it as my deliberate judgment that our Georgia plan has simply been wrong. The trouble with the 'pay as you go' system is that it simply don't 'go' either as to speed or well rounded symmetry of action. No fair man can travel North Carolina from Virginia to the Palmetto line and from the mountains to the sea, without taking off his hat and saying like Mark Twain said the first time he saw the ocean: 'Boys, she's a success.' However honest the opposition to bonds, the champions of the archaic 'pay as you go' plan cannot go behind Governor Gardner's pulverizing reply. With $18,000,000 annual income from gasoline tax and a $13,000,000 balance now actually in the bank and everybody happy, it can be readily seen that those who would shed tears about laying burdens on generation yet unborn are timorous as leaders and blind as historians. The bald fact remains that North Carolina, leading all states of the south, has a system of roads that has attracted the attention and commanded the admiration of the nation and Georgia, alas, has not.

"That is the crux of the situation. With great 'Appian ways' of commerce and pleasure linking the broad lowlands of the east to the once impassable and impossible mountains of the west, this vast Tarheel empire has become a veritable community of traveling comfort and scenic community. I covet such glorious conditions for my own state of Georgia. Ample ready money from bonds is absolutely necessary to obviate patchwork methods, petty local politics and general dissatisfaction. I want to see Georgia lead the south in an aspiring victorious campaign for better schools and better roads. On with the battle."

Like a mountain breeze... Keen and Refreshing

THE FOURTH OF JULY PICNIC

ROYAL summer with its pomp of greenery and sun holds many happy days. In the afternoon while woodland and field bathed in golden calm, there's a shady spot on the porch made cooler with "Canada Dry." When the dewy grass glistens in the early light, there's a place in your car on that all-day picnic for plenty of "Canada Dry." And beneath the deep summer stars, for a dance, for a game of bridge in the cool of the evening, there's the sparkle and gaiety and real refreshment of "Canada Dry."

Truly, a marvelous beverage to drink all the summer through! In the heat of the day it's as cooling as sweet summer rain after drought... refreshing as the breeze which blows before a thunder shower... sparkling as the play of light on blue water... mellow as a lazy canoe ride through calm inlets... and as gay and carefree and joyous as many a bright vacation!

A beverage whose flavor recommends it for every holiday occasion

Drink "Canada Dry" this summer! It is a better, purer, finer beverage. It is made from high-quality Jamaica ginger and other absolutely pure ingredients. It is blended and balanced with skill. The proportions are exactly determined. Hourly check-ups prevent variation from those proportions. Daily tests are made under laboratory methods to assure purity. A secret process of carbonation enables "Canada Dry" to retain its delightful and uniform sparkle long after the bottle is opened. And the final result... "Canada Dry"—the Champagne of Ginger Ales! Its vigor brings zest to meals. Its marvelous flavor gives distinction to any dinner table. And like the aristocrat it is, it makes its quality quietly felt, adding new joy, new gaiety to this season.

For the Fourth of July
Take along a handy Hostess Package on that picnic. Use "Canada Dry" in the punch you make for a buffet supper. Serve it to friends on the lawn as they watch the fireworks. Order it with your meals if you go away for the holidays.

EMORY BOY NEARS CLOSE OF 15,000 HITCH-HIKE TOUR

On the last lap of his 15,000-mile hitch-hike tour from coast to coast, C. Monelle McMillan, Georgia youth who graduated from Emory university here this past semester, was preparing to turn his steps southward and homeward from Boston, Mass., the last point reached by him, according to word received here Monday.

The total distance traveled by McMillan to date is 13,315 miles, since leaving Atlanta on March 23. On his journey he has penetrated Mexico as far as Monterrey to the south, and Canada as far as Victoria in the west, and Toronto in the east, in addition to covering many states in this country.

McMillan launched his hitch-hike tour with little more than the clothes on his person, and according to his latest reports he still has these, though his "uniform" is beginning to show threadbare and the soles of his shoes are growing thin for the third time since he left Atlanta.

The Georgia youth, far from home, advises "my total expenditures for transportation to date remain the same $2.70 which I spent to carry me across the Mexican border in time of revolution."

CONTRACTOR SAYS SARGON PUT HIM BACK ON HIS FEET

After Seeing His Remarkable Restoration, Wife Is Now Taking New Medicine.

"I ran a farm and store at Flower Branch, Ga., up to 1921. Then I went to Florida and tried truck farming. I lost about all the money I had, and on top of that was in wretched health. Then, I came to Atlanta, took the Sargon treatment, got well, and am getting along fine in the contracting business. So I've still got a lot to be thankful for.

"I was awfully run down and weak and had had bilious spells, headaches and awful pains in my stomach, back and right side made me miserable. I had very little appetite and my food disagreed with me. I was tired and worn out just about all the time. I had mighty little energy or ambition either. I was always taking something for constipation, and my skin was a sickly, yellowish color. I didn't feel good any time. My sleep was restless and I was generally run down."

"I saw in the papers where some of the best people in Atlanta were praising Sargon. Common sense told me people like that wouldn't misrepresent. I thought if it was helping them, it would help me, so I started it. And it surely did. I have taken three bottles of Sargon and two of the pills and I believe it is the best medicine on earth. I am hungry all the time, eat anything I want and everything tastes good and agrees with me. The pains in my stomach, back and side, and in fact every pain and ache in my body, is gone. I sleep fine and get up feeling good all over. I've got all the strength and energy any man needs and I am feeling better than I have felt in years. My wife is taking the treatment now on the strength of all it did for me."

Sargon Soft Mass Pills are wonderful. They gave me perfect regularity, and they keep me that way. They are mild but thorough, and are entirely different from the sickening, upsetting laxatives I have taken before."

The above statement was recently made by H. A. Wayne, 1041 Center St., N. W.

Sales of Sargon are setting new records all over the country. The special Sargon representative at Jacobs' main store, 6 and 8 Marietta street, is explaining the merits of this revolutionary new medicine to hundreds daily. Sargon may also be obtained at all Jacobs' drug stores throughout Atlanta. (adv.)

MISSING BANKER'S PRIVATE AFFAIRS PROBED BY POLICE

East Orange, N. J., July 1.—(P)—Investigators today turned their attention to the private enterprises of William H. Elliott, Passaic banker, for a clue to his mysterious disappearance.

Elliott dropped from sight last Wednesday between his home here and the Hobart Trust Company in Passaic, of which he was vice president and treasurer. An intensive search by police and bank officials has failed to uncover any trace of him or any explanation for his disappearance.

Officials of the bank said that his accounts were in perfect condition. Friends said he had no known enemies and that his home life was happy.

Elliott was traced through friends he greeted along his usual route from his home to the bank until within a mile and a half of his customary destination. Mrs. Elliott said her husband's wealth was about $250,000. His salary was $12,000 a year.

JOHN COOLIDGE ENTERS SCHOOL OF TRANSPORTATION

New Haven, Conn., July 1.—(P)—John Coolidge, son of former President Calvin Coolidge, has entered the school of transportation at Harvard university, where he will receive a degree in the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, and has begun his studies there. Coolidge has been a clerk in the office of General Manager J. A. Droege, and his duties are those which will guide him into the operating side of railroading.

OVERTURNED BOAT LEADS TO BELIEF 2 WERE DROWNED

Glen Cove, N. Y., July 1.—(P)—Two men were believed today to have drowned when the 26-foot seacoast Betty capsized in Long Island sound. The boat was found floating near the Cornfield lighthouse yesterday.

The seacoast, which had been purchased from a West Mystic, Conn. firm, was being delivered to William E. Riseley, attorney of 38 Park Row, New York.

An engineer of the company and another man were believed to have been on board. A coat and a shirt were found in the boat.

PLANS FOR PACIFIC DIRIGIBLE LINE ARE ANNOUNCED

San Francisco, July 1.—(P)—The examiner today said negotiations were in progress between the Dollar Steamship Company and the Goodyear-Zeppelin Company for the inauguration of a trans-Pacific dirigible service.

Since Dollar, vice president of the steamship company, was quoted as having said he had held several conferences with Goodyear-Zeppelin officials and that while no agreement was reached, negotiations were continuing.

Dollar said if the plans materialized the first service probably would be between San Francisco and Hawaii, and if commercially successful, other lines connecting with the Asiatic mainland would be established. Passenger, mail and light freight would be carried.

Italian Princess Will Receive Veil; Renounces Millions

Milan, Italy, July 1.—(United News)—Princess Biscari, member of an ancient and famous Sicilian noble family, will receive the veil in the Carmelite religious order tomorrow at the hands of her equally illustrious husband, Prince Biscari.

The prince and princess decided in 1927 to enter religious orders. Both have finished their two-year novitiate period and the prince was ordained priest in the Barnabite order Sunday.

Before taking their vows the couple renounced their property in Sicily, where they had owned about $1,052,000 worth of property. The real estate was donated to the holy see.

They received special dispensation to live apart before entering the novitiate period. A case of this kind, where husband and wife choose religious status by common consent has been rarely recorded in Italy.

The note requested that her brother, Captain Claude Barrow, of the British army, and a friend, Miss Wald, of Hartsdale, N. Y., be notified. Mrs. Thumell had lived at the hotel since April 26.

New York, July 1.—(P)—Leaving a note in which she said she was in distress and was "going out for a little air," Mrs. Eve Thumell jumped to her death from the window of her room on the fourteenth floor of the Hotel Victoria today.

The note requested that her brother, Captain Claude Barrow, of the British army, and a friend, Miss Wald, of Hartsdale, N. Y., be notified. Mrs. Thumell had lived at the hotel since April 26.

DAIRY PRODUCTS FIRM BUYS LOCAL CONCERN

Model Dairy Added to Chain of U. S. Dairy Products. $100,000 Involved.

Further penetration by the United States Dairy Products Corporation, of Philadelphia, large chain organization, into the dairy industry of the south was seen in acquisition of the Model Dairy Company, of Atlanta, by the eastern corporation.

Consummation of purchase of the local dairy by the Philadelphia corporation was effected Monday, it was learned from B. R. George, president of the Model dairy. The local plant is situated at 259 Nelson street, S. W., and was reported to have represented a valuation of approximately $100,000 in the transaction.

Although change of ownership of the local property takes place immediately under terms of the transaction, no alteration in operating policies are contemplated, Mr. George intimated. The same management is to be continued. Purchase of the Model Dairy represents the second acquisition of dairy properties made in Atlanta by the United States Dairy Products Corporation since the first of the year. Last February the corporation purchased the Pedigree Dairies, Inc., which has continued to operate here under that name.

The Philadelphia concern was organized in 1922 through merger of a number of old dairy interests to acquire properties throughout the nation, operating as a single dairy chain. According to Clement S. Trainer, traveling auditor of the United States Dairy Products Corporation, who was in Atlanta Monday, the concern has a chain of approximately 50 dairies to date. These are located in the eastern half of the nation, although future expansion plans of the company are not to be limited to any section; it was stated. There are no negotiations in process for purchasing other Atlanta dairies, it was reported.

ACTION POSTPONED ON PLANS TO CUT COURT SALARIES

Contemplated reduction in the salaries of the municipal court and if possible a slash in the personnel, were postponed Monday afternoon by the finance committee of the board of Fulton county commissioners. According to Chairman Edward H. Inman of the committee no reductions will be made until January 1. Other reductions in salaries and personnel previously recommended by the finance committee to go into effect on September 1 will be presented to the full commission at its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Inman said.

According to dispatches received here Monday from New York financial circles, the United States Dairy Products Corporation acquired the Birtcher Dairy Company of Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va., at the same time it consummated the deal on the local project. The dispatch indicates that the Model Dairy Company here will be merged with the Pedigree Dairies, Inc.

AIKEN GOES ON TRIAL FOR MURDERS TODAY

Slayer of Wife and Friend
Will Be Tried in Judge
Humphries' Court.

With morning and afternoon sessions scheduled to bring the case to a speedy conclusion Sam F. Aiken, 41, admitted slayer of his wife, Annie Mae, and Boyce Hunter, "friend of the family," will go on trial before a jury in Judge John D. Humphries' division of the Fulton superior court this morning.

No extra jurors have been summoned, Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, who will direct the prosecution, saying he is certain that a jury can be easily obtained from the regular July panel of 150 men which was sworn in for service Monday. Aiken will be tried for the murder of his wife, Mr. Boykin said. The state is expected to pin its hopes for conviction on its attempt to prove that a note found in the garments of the slain woman and purported to be from her to Hunter was forged by the husband, while Aiken's defense is expected to rest on the "wrecked home" statement he made to the police shortly after his arrest.

PALMER ~ PROPERTIES

A New Definition of an old Word—"Service"

SOMEONE has said it's the "little things" that count. Certainly this is the case in an office building—we know that occupants of the three buildings which make up the Palmer Properties appreciate such little things as:

Secretarial service Linen towels in rest rooms
Night bell protection White inspectress
Courteous employees

Personal touches help to make of our buildings more than mere offices. "Service" is admittedly an over-worked word, but we are perfectly willing to work over-time to make it mean something to tenants in Palmer Properties.

Perils of Air Mail Trails Related in Special Series

The Constitution presents the seventeenth of a series of articles which show the dangers attending the duties of Rough Riders of the Air Mail, written exclusively by air mail pilots for The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance. This interesting feature will be carried daily.

BY PAUL REEDER.
Mail Pilot for the Colonial Air Transport's Boston-New York Run.

LOST IN A SNOWSTORM IN THE CLOUDS

Flying the mail from Montreal to New York last November I ran into heavy snow on the outskirts of Albany, N. Y., just as darkness set in. I was soon lost completely.

For half an hour I flew at 200 feet. There was no visibility ahead, but enough down so I could dodge obstacles. Finally I spotted an Albany building I could identify. I knew the airport was nine miles away and I headed for it on a compass course.

A mile and a half from the field snow and ice clogged the carburetor jets and the motor cut out. I was so low I couldn't do anything but glide straight ahead.

Luckily I was headed into the wind. A road loomed up and then a field, too small for landing. I hit there, bounced over a hedge into another field and stopped. If there had been trees or some other obstruction just ahead when the motor cut out I might not be writing this story. A motorist took the mail on to the postoffice. The plane was not damaged, but the field where it landed was so small we had to fold the wings and tow the plane to the airport.

Flying a plane west from Bradford, Pa., last summer, I had reached Cleveland and I thought I could make Indianapolis before dark. I had a friend with me. We ran into a strong head wind which retarded us. Dark-ness fell and the ship had no lights.

Flying after dark without lights is against the law, so I didn't want to arrive at Indianapolis in an unlighted plane. It seemed that we might be in for trouble, but when I found a suitable pasture and set the plane down it turned out differently.

A farmer helped us tie the plane down for the night and took us in to an appetizing supper. We slept there that night and next morning had a good breakfast and flew on our way.

All the adventures which happen to flying men are not unpleasant!

CARROLL TYE WEDS MRS. ANNA STANLEY IN NEW YORK CITY

Carroll Tye, native Atlantan and a son of John L. Tye, well-known local attorney, and Mrs. Anna A. Stanley, of Oakland, Cal., were married in New York Monday. They were learned from dispatches received here Monday night.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Tye sailed for France aboard the S. S. Paris. They are to spend their honeymoon abroad after which Mr. Tye probably will remain in Europe as a representative of the Coca-Cola Company. It was learned at the groom's home here Monday night. Mr. Tye has been connected with the Coca-Cola Company for several years and formerly was stationed here.

The couple obtained their marriage license Monday morning, only a few hours before the ceremony was performed by the city clerk. In applying for the license both parties gave their ages as 33 years. The groom is a son of John L. and Carrie Wilson Tye and the bride is a daughter of William R. and Alamed Stephens Al-berge, of Oakland, her birthplace.

WANTED WHOLE ESTATE, HARDINGE DECLARES

Chicago, July 1.—(P)—Trial of the $250,000 breach of promise suit brought by Ann Livingston, 23-year-old divorcee of Tulsa, Okla., against Franklin S. Hardinge, 62-year-old manufacturer of oil burners, reached a dramatic point today as the defendant's son, 20 years old and six foot tall, was exhibited to the jury.

In the midst of Hardinge's testimony, right after he termed Miss Livingston avaricious and grasping, his attorney had the boy stand up.

"Did you ever see this young man before?" the attorney asked.

Hardinge gulped, but did not answer.

"He's your son, isn't he?"

The gray haired witness nodded. Attorney Benjamin Erlich, representing Miss Livingston, leaped to his feet.

"It's my chance now," he exclaimed. "Let the record show Hardinge is crying."

John Bussan, attorney for Hardinge, had made a similar declaration when Miss Livingston was on the stand.

"Did you ever tell Miss Livingston that you didn't like this boy?" he asked Hardinge. "No."

"Did you ever tell her he was a weakling?"

"What's the point to this?" demanded Erlich. "Miss Livingston never testified that he said such things."

"That's all," said Bussan as the younger Hardinge plowed through the crowd of spectators to leave the courtroom.

Hardinge continued his story of unappreciated love on the stand. He said Miss Livingston wanted his whole estate, that she was not satisfied with a mere $100,000 bequest in his will, that during December, 1920, she grew more and more avaricious and that she never was good natured unless she was buying something.

FRIGIDAIRE DEALERS REPORT SALES GAIN

All-Time Record Predicted
at Meeting of Georgia Members of Organization.

Sales of Frigidaire electric refrigerating units thus far in 1929 have far exceeded the sales for the same period last year and in so doing have established an all-time record, according to reports given before a meeting of Georgia Frigidaire dealers held Monday at the Henry Grady hotel.

Dealers from all parts of the state assembled to give their reports and to hear talks by state and national executives of the company. The national leaders reported that Georgia's record for this year is no exception to the rule, for other states have been turning in records of constantly mounting sales, giving rise to the belief that 1929 will break all company records by a wide margin.

Included among the features of the meeting was a showing of the complete Frigidaire line, including the new electric water coolers and the newest model refrigerators.

E. H. Danforth, branch manager, announced plans for a national sales contest to be conducted during July. Special prizes for distinguished services in selling were given to E. D. Lee, of Rome; Bert Richardson, of Gainesville; W. H. Griffith, of Rome; and H. W. Garrett, of Savannah.

Included among the speakers appearing on the program were Mr. Danforth, branch manager; H. F. Flanagan, service manager; Herbert Pine, manager of the Delco Light-Frigidaire division of the General Motors Acceptance Corporation; L. E. Dano, of the service department; R. E. Cawhern, service manager; C. E. Russell, regional manager; H. H. Wilkerson, zone manager, and W. E. Hudson, R. A. Rozar and M. W. Baird, division managers.

Attends Meeting.
Columbus, Ga., July 1.—(P)—Brigadier General Campbell King, commander of Fort Benning, today was in Washington to attend a meeting of the classification board of the United States army. General King left yesterday for Washington where the board will be in session several days.

High Blood Pressure
Due to Constipation and Biliousness

If Alertox Fails—
Call a Doctor

High blood pressure is both functional and organic, often produced by over-eating or mental strain, while constipation and biliousness are underlying causes. In either case, Alertox, a new chemical discovery, through a process of elimination, corrects all toxic conditions and tends to reduce pressure in the veins and arteries by carrying out, through the intestinal tract, excess water in the system which the sweat glands have failed to secrete.

After the first dose or two of Alertox you note a decided improvement in reduced blood pressure, also in your general health, because Alertox moves, in one action, more poison bile from the system than any other known formula, leaving you buoyant, vivacious and alert. At all druggists or sent direct upon receipt of price, 60c and $1. Alertox, Inc., Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

U. S. TO STRESS PARITY DOCTRINE IN NAVIES

Stimson Refutes Rumors of Foregoing Equality in Ships.

Washington, July 1.—(AP)—Secretary Stimson moved today to end suggestions from abroad that the United States would forego the doctrine of parity in future naval discussions.

Since Hugh S. Gibson, American ambassador to Belgium and head of the American delegation to the preparatory disarmament commission of the League of Nations, first presented the views of the Hoover administration on the disarmament question at the April meeting of the commission, official circles have believed interested naval powers considered President Hoover willing to forego parity in order to secure agreement on the naval question.

Parity Doctrine.

Secretary Stimson indicated today, however, that the parity doctrine will continue to be the principal basis of discussions in future naval parleys where the United States is concerned. Taking cognizance of reports from London that the United States would change its policy, Mr. Stimson declared that in his opinion parity was of primary importance to a satisfactory solution of the naval question. He emphasized that when nations have agreed not to outbuild each other in fleets they have taken the longest step possible to eliminate war.

The belief that Mr. Hoover would permit the parity question to be sidetracked was believed in official circles to have grown out of the liberal disarmament policy followed by the present administration.

Seek Understanding.

These circles also emphasized that the conversations begun in London between Ambassador Davies and Prime Minister MacDonald and now being carried on among representatives of all the interested naval powers have been held merely in an effort to seek a common understanding on the question. It was also pointed out that Ambassador Gibson in his speech at Geneva outlining the view of the Hoover administration on the whole question declared that American naval defense needs would be dependent upon the strength of other navies.

While Mr. Stimson's statement was not considered a new development in the naval problem, but merely a reaffirmation of policy, it was interpreted as meaning the United States is still anxious to proceed with a naval reduction program, no matter how severe. However, equality of naval strength is expected to remain the outstanding policy of the administration for such a program.

Important Witness Dies at Chicago Home

Chicago, July 1.—(AP)—James P. Connery, prominent democrat and an important witness last year in the senatorial investigation of the Teapot Dome "slush fund," died at his home yesterday. He was 63 years old.

Connery once was the partner of Will Hays, former postmaster general and now the high court of the moving picture industry, in stock market operations. During the Teapot Dome inquiry he was involved with Hays and Harry F. Sinclair, who subsequently was sentenced to serve a jail term.

Connery is survived by a son, three daughters, and three brothers.

AUTO GROUP HEAD FLAYS SHOOTING OF CAR DRIVERS

Buffalo, N. Y., July 1.—(AP)—The Automobile Association of America today took cognizance of recent shootings of law-abiding motorists by law enforcement agents in the keynote address of the president, Thomas P. Henry, of Detroit, at the annual convention.

"There is a great deal of agitation," Mr. Henry said, "over the alleged shooting of motorists by law enforcement agents. The situation is charged with dynamite but that is no reason why we should fail to take cognizance of its existence.

"As an association and as individuals we stand behind the laws of our country; we have no sympathy for the criminal or for the bootlegger, but the presence of these on the highways cannot be permitted to jeopardize the life of a single law-abiding user of the common road."

THREE SENATE BODIES HOLD TARIFF HEARINGS

Numerous Witnesses Heard on Wide Variety of Subjects.

Washington, July 1.—(AP)—A wide variety of commodities ranging from shoes to cast iron pipe occupied three groups of senators' tariff hearings today as they continued hearings on the house bill.

The metals and sundry sub-committees of the finance committee were in session all day taking testimony of more than a score of manufacturers and importers. The silk group called a dozen witnesses to testify late in the day.

Raymond V. McNamara, Haverhill, Mass., shoe manufacturer, told the sundry sub-committee the women's shoe industry in this country would be obsolete in ten years unless an adequate tariff were placed on foot wear, now on the free list. He said imports, largely from Czechoslovakia, were increasing at an alarming rate.

Regarding the Haverhill situation he declared factories were operating far below capacity, the population had fallen off 8,000 in eight years, 1,700 tenements were vacant, 20 plants had been forced to liquidate last year, and 8,000 workers were now on strike for a 10 per cent wage increase and five-day week.

McNamara told Senator Thomas, democrat, Oklahoma, that even with a tariff higher than the 20 per cent proposed in the house bill the manufacturers would be unable to meet the workers' demands because other factories, here and abroad, would be working longer hours and paying less wages.

W. R. Clymer, Forest Hill Gardens, New York, urged an increase in the house duty on violins and musical instrument cases while John C. Donnelly, Washington, representing importers, protested against the proposed increase from 40 to 60 per cent in the rate on pipe organs.

Herbert Kennedy, New York iron importer, protested against the house increase of 10 per cent in the 20 per cent duty on cast iron pipe, declaring imports were negligible compared with domestic production.

Taking the opposite view, Walter Wood, Philadelphia manufacturer, said the proposed 30 per cent rate would not protect producers on the Atlantic seaboard from French imports and urged a specific duty of six-tenths of one cent a pound.

Hatton Lovejoy, LaGrange, Ga., representing the National Council of Cotton Manufacturers and several individual factories, today asked a senate tariff sub-committee considering the sundries schedule for a duty of four cents a pound on wiping rags.

The house bill fixed the duty at two cents. Lovejoy said the four cents he asked represented the difference in cost between the American product and that of Japan delivered to American ports.

He also asked for a clarification of the section covering the duty to limit the size of the rags to 144 square inches or more.

NATIVE SPANIARD LOSES IN FIGHT TO STAY IN U. S.

Jose Polomino, a Spaniard by birth, who has just completed a term in the federal penitentiary for the possession and passing of counterfeit money, was remanded to the custody of the local immigration officials Monday for deportation when Judge S. H. Sibley overruled a habeas corpus petition which had been filed in his behalf by Attorney Frank Doughman.

FRANCE HONORS HERRICK; STRIKES MEDAL TO HIM

Paris, July 1.—(AP)—The French government, for the second time, has honored an American citizen by striking a medal. The latest being one in honor of the late Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France. The first medal was struck in honor of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh. On the one side of the medal is a likeness of the late ambassador as he appeared during his last year in Paris and on the other side is a representation of the cruiser Tourville in Brest harbor taking aboard the body of Ambassador Herrick preparatory to carrying it to the United States.

YOUTH GOES HOME TO PROVE THAT HE IS ALIVE AND WELL

Knoxville, Tenn., July 1.—(AP)—Frank Ballinger, 17, heard that he was dead and went home to prove he was alive and well. Ballinger was believed to have died when the Paul McNabb dairy barn, near here, was destroyed by lightning. His mother was prostrated, he read in a newspaper, so he hurried home from an uncle.

KING GOES ON TRIAL FOR WIFE MURDER

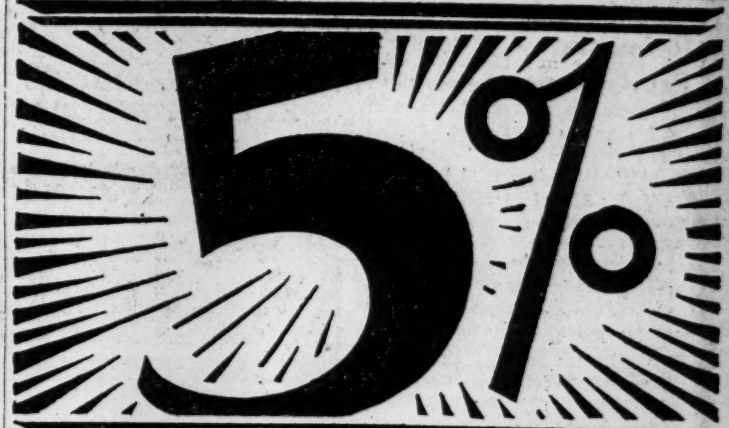

Jury Is Quickly Secured and State Presents Witnesses.

Chester, S. C., July 1.—(AP)—Rafe F. King, 37, today went on trial in Chester county criminal court on the charge of slaying his 24-year-old wife, Faye Wilson King. Forty minutes after the case formally got under way a jury of merchants, farmers, mechanics and salesmen was chosen and testimony was started immediately after lunch hour.

The case, expected to be one of the hardest fought legal battles in the history of South Carolina criminal courts, proceeded with startling swiftness. Judge J. K. Henry, who invariably opens court with prayer by a minister, cut red tape and soon after calling the case overruled a motion of the defense for quashing of the indictment because it charges King with killing his wife in a number of ways. The evidence in the case is expected to be largely circumstantial. Mrs. King was found dead in an outhouse near her home in Sharon, S. C. King had reported to neighbors that she had failed to return from the Sharon high school, where she taught French, and a search had been started. The coroner rendered a verdict of suicide, but a later inquiry resulted in the murder charge against King, member of a wealthy Shelby, N. C., family. He has been free on bond. The witnesses this afternoon were in large measure put on the stand by the state to prove the death of Mrs. King and to lay the foundation for their undiscovered phases of the case. Their testimony dealt almost entirely with details such as the distance from the outhouse to the King home.

FATHER IS GIVEN TERM FOR RENTING SON AS BEGGAR

New York, July 1.—(AP)—David Bernstein, 45, today was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary because he rented his seven-year-old son, Solomon, out as a beggar.

Bernstein would fasten the boy in a wheel chair in a manner that his leg seemed rigid and with his head tilted back over his shoulder as if paralyzed. For $3 a day he would rent the boy and chair out to a negro who would wheel them about the city collecting alms.

The negro, Harry Waters, who also received a three-year sentence, paid the boy 30 cents a day.

ROOSEVELT EIGHT SETS NEW WORLD'S NON-STOP RECORD

MARMON-BUILT STRAIGHT-8 BREAKS ALL RECORDS FOR CONTINUOUS OPERATION OF ENGINE AND CAR

[BULLETIN]

INDIANAPOLIS MOTOR SPEEDWAY, July 1.—A terrific gale and cloudburst which ripped roofs off grandstands and strewn the track with wreckage concluded the Roosevelt non-stop endurance run at 6:40 last night, after this car had set a new world's record of 18 days, 8 hours and 40 minutes without stopping engine or car.

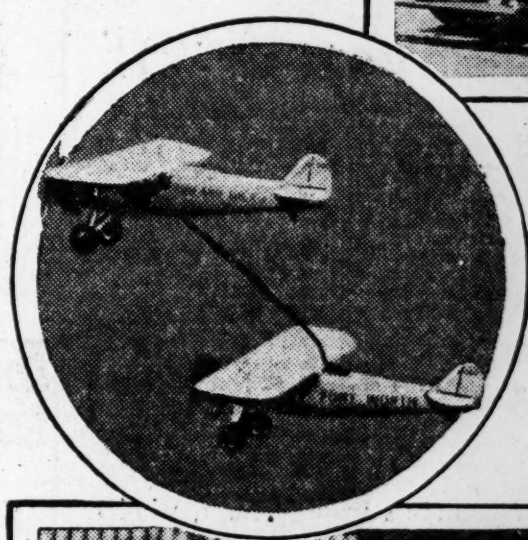

A Roosevelt straight-eight stock car has shattered all existing records for non-stop engine and car operation. The best previous non-stop car record was 162 hours. The best previous record for sustained operation was made in the air—the airplane Fort Worth was aloft 172 hours, 32 minutes, 1 second. Running continuously since 10 a. m., June 12, the record-breaking Roosevelt, as this was written, had more than doubled that mark.

The rules of the contest board of the American Automobile Association are that the car must be continuously on the move under its own power. The killing of the motor would disqualify it. The failure of a valve spring, a gasoline line, the vacuum tank, a connection in the electrical system—any of these or hundreds of other things might bring the run to an end. Yet this Roosevelt Eight has kept on and on.

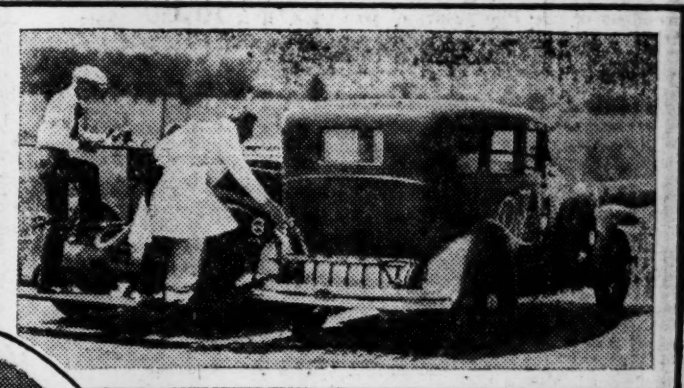

24 Hours a Day
No road conditions could possibly compare with the constant beating and vibration of the two and one-half miles of 18-year-old bricks which make up the Speedway. Through day and night, rain and blistering sun, it has gone on, the engine never permitted to rest.

Just think of an automobile going from New York to Los Angeles, immediately turning around and coming back to New York; then after arriving in New York immediately going to Miami; and from Miami to Detroit; then from Detroit to Dallas, and doing all this without the motor once being shut off or the wheels stopped rolling. That, in equivalent distance, is what the Roosevelt has done—never stopping rarely slackening its speed. Record is subject to official A.A.A. and A.I.A.C.R. confirmation after completion of run.

Forest, Farm and Factory Program Is in Preparation At College of Agriculture

Plan Features Cow-Hog-Hen Program as Basis. Reforestation, Poultry, Fruit Growing Included

Waycross, Ga., July 1.—(Special.) The forest, farm and factory program adopted by the Southeast Georgia Co-operative Association, as well as the Waycross and Ware County Chamber of Commerce, is now being arranged by the Georgia State College of Agriculture at Athens and will be ready for publication within a short time. It was announced here today by J. S. Elkins, author of the plan.

The program features the cow, hog, hen plan as a basis upon which to make diversified farming in south-east Georgia a paying proposition, and strongly emphasizes a well balanced program of diversification, with feed and food crops as leaders, and cash crops, such as cotton and tobacco, as seconds.

"The reforestation of acres unsuited for farming will be recommended, and also the replacing of wire grass with carpet grass to provide pasturage of real value for cows and hogs," Mr. Elkins stated today in commenting on the three-cornered program. "Another item of special interest on the program will be poultry and poultry products. There is hardly any doubt that Waycross, in the very near future, will become an established poultry and egg market of great importance. And the growers have learned from recent experiences that money coming in every month, and even more often, from the sale of poultry, fills a very important place in the family program."

Fruit Trees.

"The planting of pecan trees and other fruit trees that are adapted to our section will be urged. Sanitation and health measures will be included as well as necessary measures to make the home and premises attractive in appearance."

"Every cow, hog and hen on the farm becomes a factory for converting raw material into a finished product. When given the proper care and attention the dividends derived from this industrial enterprise are great. Corn can be made to increase its value by 300 per cent and grass can be sold at a fabulous price. It can be done, and it is being done, but it takes effort, care, knowledge and a desire to make something more than an ordinary existence."

"When the program is completed it will be published in the Southeast Georgia Fair premium catalog, and also will be printed in pamphlet form for distribution throughout the 14 southeast Georgia counties comprising the Southeast Georgia Co-operative Association."

EUGENE G. O'NEIL, PLAYWRIGHT, SUE IN RENO COURT

Reno, Nev., July 1.—(AP)—Eugene G. O'Neil, playwright, was sued for divorce today by Agnes Boulton O'Neil.

The papers in the case were sealed at the request of Mrs. O'Neil but it is understood the charges are desertion. They married in Provincetown, Mass., April 12, 1918 and have two children.

Mrs. O'Neil has been making her home at one of the "lodge" ranches near here since she came here three months ago.

In coming to Reno for a divorce, Mrs. O'Neil was said at the time she started west to be fulfilling a proviso in their marriage ceremony whereby each agreed to give the other freedom should love for another arise. O'Neil some months ago is said to have informed his wife that he cared for some one else and that the "some one" cared for him.

The case will be tried tomorrow.

SPALDING TO VOTE ON SCHOOL BONDS

Griffin, Ga., July 1.—(Special.)—Spalding county citizens will go to the polls Wednesday, July 3, to vote on a proposed $100,000 issue for county school bonds. Bond advocates are hard at work throughout the county and are claiming that the bond issue will carry by a substantial majority.

Under the proposed plans, a county high school would be erected at some central point and then consolidated schools would be erected throughout the county, with a system of buses, to take the children to and from school. Residents of Griffin are not eligible to vote in the election.

Brothers, Pals From Russia War in Georgia Court Suit

BY R. C. HAWK. Valdosta, Ga., July 1.—(Special.) The suit of Nathan Friedlander, of Valdosta, and the cross-suit of Julius Friedlander, of Moultrie, practically sole owners of corporations with mercantile holdings of half million dollars in assets and a yearly volume of business aggregating a million or more, makes Judge W. E. Thomas, of the superior court, think that the case of the rival mothers before King Solomon was an easy question to decide.

Solomon settled his celebrated case over the ownership of the child by ordering the child divided by the sword and each claimant given a half. This brought a quick agreement between the claimants. The impending threat that a receivership might have to be invoked in the Friedlander case seems to have fallen upon deaf ears, as neither rival claimant for control of the business offered to let the other have his way in order to settle the business.

Since Nathan Friedlander was a boy in Russia, 12 years of age, he claims to have been looking out for his younger brother, Julius, and that when they came to the states and finally engaged in business, the two together built up a business which now totals a volume of $1,000,000 a year, and over which each wants control.

The record submitted by Nathan Friedlander sets up that his first year in south Georgia was spent in peddling goods from a pack on his back. The second year he peddled from a wagon drawn by a horse, this outfit costing $180, which represented his profits for the first year. He then sets out that in 1910 he had accumulated an equity in a bankrupt stock of goods held by Lazarus Bros., the value of which was placed at $1,000. Nathan and Julius Friedlander went into business at Moultrie with this stock and operated as partnership until 1927, when they incorporated.

Julius claims in his affidavits that he has lived frugally and hoarded his money until personally he is well provided for and that on the other hand Nathan has been a spender and has lost money in the operations of certain parts of the business, while Julius has made large sums for those parts of the business under his direction.

Nathan went before Judge Thomas originally and asked that Julius be restrained from interfering with his operation of the Valdosta store and also to prevent Julius and smaller stockholders from "freezing" him out of the business. Julius Friedlander comes back with a cross-suit and asks that Nathan be restrained from interfering with the operation of the business, claiming that Nathan owes Julius large sums of money lost in real estate speculation.

Griffin, Ga., July 1.—(Special.)—Robert Cumming and Paul D. Ellis, of Griffin, have passed all their examinations and have been admitted to the "plebe" class at the United States naval academy.

THEATER REVIEWS

ERUDITE, HONEST
FIGHTER FEATURED AT METROPOLITAN

The rather fascinating story of an "academically educated" member of the cauliflower business—a champion who fell ignominiously from the pinnacle, because he was not equally versed in the art of shady managing and equally shady promoting is told in the all-talking feature screen attraction, "Speakeasy," current at the Metropolitan theater.

The pug, of course, to make the vehicle entirely smooth and pleasing, ultimately regains the crown lost through the influence of speakeasy frequenters and a "prejudiced press," but the unwillingness of the modus operandi incident to the comeback forms the brightest spot in the film, which, all in all, is well worth an evening or an afternoon.

The journalistic element—and a very clever one—we are not going to discuss, other than to reveal the presence of an ifful female reporter, who does just about everything but darken the vision of the champ in her campaign to make restitution for the unfair opposition given him by her contemporaries, which was plenty but insufficient.

A screamingly funny Clark and McCulloch talkie upon "Beneath the Law," in which the famous comedians disport themselves creditably in the roles of an attorney and his assistant, completes the program.

—T. K. JONES.

VENTRILOQUIST ACT
HOLDS SPOTLIGHT
AT LOEW'S CAPITOL

With Arthur Prince, world-famous ventriloquist and his mute partner "Jim" in the spotlight in a hilarious nautical nonsense, "Naval History," the week's vaudeville at Loew's Capitol is unusually interesting. The vaudeville is backed up by a highly entertaining picture, "The Idle Rich," revamped from the stage success "White Collars." It is a good independence celebration program.

Prince, a veteran of the British army, who wears several decorations for conspicuous exploits, was appointed by the Prince of Wales to be his "ambassador of good will" to the American and Canadian fighting forces.

Andre Jordy and Gene Aleer, spectacular singing dancers, contribute an entertaining act and are assisted by three co-eds, and Harry and Mandell Murray, former tap dancers of George White's "Scandals," add to the fun.

A comedy combination that is hard to beat was presented by the Bison City four. They sang several numbers that secured big hits and also demonstrated in clever comedy bits that they are topnotchers in producing plays.

Arthur Davids and Lucile Glass had a clever wire walking and juggling act.

Bernard Weber, well known radio singer, gave several selections and was assisted at the piano by Love Davis.

Conrad Nagel, Leila and Bessie Love are the highlights in the screen presentation which has to do with the everyday life of an "average" family. It has plenty of romance and comedy. An overture, The American Patrol, and a news reel complete the program.

IN 'THIS IS HEAVEN' ON HOWARD SCREEN

"This Is Heaven" is the name attached to the current screen feature at the Howard. This sobriquet is rather misleading. It isn't heaven, to be truthful it is only very faintly paradisaical. On the other hand, it is rather intriguing entertainment and the theater is celestially cool.

The story is a bit threadbare, but is redeemed by the presence of the beautiful Vilma Banky, a good supporting cast and some much-better-than-average subtitles—yes, there are subtitles. Vilma starts out as a somewhat simple-minded immigrant who soon sheds her simplicity, along with some seven petticoats, shortly after her arrival in this land of the "free." She meets a young millionaire, whom she thinks to be a chauffeur. He allows the deception to go forward, but when she finds out the truth, she takes to her heels, instead of the usual reverse procedure. Of course, there are misunderstandings and hard words and tears and the rest of the impedimenta calculated to put a heart throb immediately before the fade-out.

After a long siege with instructors Miss Banky becomes articulate in this number, the last reel or so being in dialogue. She has a rather pleasing accent of the same type cultivated by all foreign stars which adds perceptibly to her charm.

The usual complement of sound shorts are on hand to take the place of more intimate entertainment. Included among these are a burlesque on a "gang" picture, starring Lloyd Hamilton in two roles; a girl's stage band; a bit of flag waving calculated to inspire patriotic feelings and the usual news. The latter, by the bye, gives a fleeting glimpse of one Robert Jones taking out himself another good title.

—LEWIS HAWKINS.

FOUR TURNS VIE
FOR TOP PLACE
ON KEITH'S STAGE

Despite the fact that Harry Burns, the well known "Italian" in the vaudeville, is given the headline position on the current vaudeville bill at Keith's Georgia theater, the other four acts turn out to be of approximately the same caliber.

Moran, Wiser and Donna occupy the opening turn with a rather clever juggling exhibition that received a cordial reception from Monday night's audience. Such an auspicious start to the stage presentations had tendency to create the impression that other acts were in store.

Emily Earle had the stage all to herself for the second time, Monday, when which Williams and Delaney appeared on the scene. This pair evoked a number of hearty chuckles although the female member of the team was not perfect as a Beatrice Lile.

Burns et al were next in line and a number of the other acts chimed in with Jennie, a juvenile, to close the bill.

An all talkie entitled "The Time, the Place and the Girl" is the principal feature on the bill of fare and has to do with the adventures of a football star in the bond business.

SAVANNAH DAIRY SURVEY IS BEGUN BY U. S. SPECIALIST

Savannah, Ga., July 1.—(P)—Dr. Clarence E. Smith, associate milk specialist, United States public health service, Washington, D. C., began today a survey of the 48 dairies which supply Savannah with milk. He is working in conjunction with local authorities since the adoption of a more rigorous milk ordinance in the handling of milk and kindred supplies.

"It is the purpose of the public health service," said Dr. Smith, "to bring about a uniformity in the classification of milk throughout the country, so that Grade A milk, for instance, in Savannah, would be the same as Grade A milk in any other city, just as good mulling cotton is established on a uniform basis in the various markets."

Dr. Smith said he was greatly pleased with the forward step taken by Savannah in regulating the milk supply to meet the best health standards. He will remain here all week.

No reason for the secrecy was divulged.

Veteran Educator Boosts Columbus For 1930 Meeting

The advantages of Columbus, Ohio, as a convention city will be presented to the National Education Association

DR. W. O. THOMPSON.

Wednesday by Dr. W. O. Thompson, president emeritus of Ohio State university, in extending an invitation to that body to hold its next annual convention there, it was announced here Monday.

Dr. Thompson, who was president of Ohio State from 1899 to 1925, is one of the oldest members of the association, having joined in 1894. He has missed but few annual meetings since that time. He retired from his position as president of Ohio State on his seventieth birthday, November 5, 1925, and was made president emeritus at that time.

In pointing out the many advantages which Columbus offers, Dr. Thompson stated that it was a city of more than 300,000 population, one of the most accessible cities in the central west and the capital of the state.

"We have sufficient hotel accommodations to care for a convention of almost any size," he stated, "and a main convention hall which will seat 7,000 people. In addition to this we have any number of smaller auditoriums where special meetings may be held. Our restaurant facilities are unsurpassed. We also have a great additional advantage in that the principal hotels and meeting halls are all within three blocks of the state capital building."

"The invitation which I am to extend," he went on, "has the endorsement and backing of all the educational officials in Columbus, the state teachers' association, the mayor and the governor of the state. Other large cities in Ohio are also giving us their backing, including Cleveland, Cincinnati, Youngstown, Dayton and others."

Columbus is situated in the geographical center of the state of Ohio and is within one night's ride of Chicago, New York city and St. Louis, an area which contains some 50,000,000 people.

Is Convention Center.

The city already has gained a wide reputation as the convention center of that section, which means that all necessary preparations could be made for handling the thousands of delegates which will attend in the event that Dr. Thompson's invitation is accepted.

He will present his message to the general business session Wednesday and to the board of directors Thursday, when final action probably will be taken.

He was most enthusiastic about the success of the current gathering, declaring that the program which had been arranged was of the highest class and that many lasting benefits should be obtained by those attending. He also said that the hospitality of Atlanta was unequalled anywhere in the country and that the reception accorded the delegates here had never been equalled anywhere.

Two hundred cases of assorted liquors were seized here today when Chief of Police J. B. White found that a railroad car billed as carrying crated peppers contained more liquor than it did peppers. "My! you look lovely to-night"

SHE knew the compliment to be true—for the last month had vanished.

If you are one of the embarrassed—and men are not exceptions—with skin blemishes that linger, and sometimes leave scars, you must realize that the logical cause may come from the blood.

A clear, smooth, velvety skin bespeaks loveliness. Men admire it. Women praise and secretly envy. Hope, joy, happiness, and even love, may depend on the possession of a clear, unblemished skin.

On the other hand—skin eruptions are outward evidences of the condition within. Authorities

THE GUMPS—PREPAREDNESS

THE UNKISSED BRIDE
By BERTA RUCK

SYNOPSIS

Joy Harrison, living in London and working for Dr. Rex Travers in Harley street, is troubled by a letter from her fiancé, Geoffrey Ford, a well-known novelist, asking to be released from the engagement. Preoccupied with her own trouble she fails to notice that Dr. Travers seems troubled too. Towards the end of the day he tells Joy that he has just lost a great deal of money through an unsuccessful speculation and he will be forced to give up his house in Harley street.

Dr. Locke, a tenant, tells Rex that he has just been offered a practice with a comfortable villa in the south of France, which he cannot take on, and he suggests that he recommend Rex for it. The only hitch to the plan is that they want a married doctor and Rex is a bachelor. To his partner's suggestion that he marry and take the new post Rex turns a deaf ear.

Joy, who has been listening to the doctor's counsel, suddenly sees a method of escape for her and she asks Dr. Travers if he will marry her on a business arrangement. The doctor is stunned by her suggestion and finally asks her why she made it. She tells him that she is badly in need of another job, although her real reason is to have Geoffrey freed of her engagement to another man.

The doctor broods over the change his altered circumstances will have on his young nephew and ward, Percival Arthur Plims. Finally he decides to take Joy at her word and they enter into an agreement to marry on a strictly business basis. Immediately after the ceremony Rex, Joy and Percival Arthur go to the south of France. Joy, who is now keeping house and Percival Arthur has increased in each other. Then the doctor, Geoffrey and his mother, appear on the scene. Joy invites them to the first tea party. Geoffrey reneges his attention to Joy and Rex goes to the office. Joy is an eager interested in Geoffrey but a misunderstanding arises between herself and Rex which strains their relation. They are both miserable.

INSTALLMENT LIV. MISERABLE THOUGHTS.

Joy pledged herself to a dance later on with Mr. Smithson after heart-breaking again, for would Rex let all the dances be booked? She uttered bright, stereotyped remarks about how Percival Arthur had enjoyed that flight. This pilot supposed that she, Joy, was known about flying. What? Not been up? Not yet? Oh, but you'll have to! Joy put up a good mimicry of her pre-Rex lightheartedness as she laughed, explained that she had no head for heights, that nothing could drag her off the earth, then turned to promise dances to Colonel Hay-Molynex and to the count.

Still and without its seeming to be done with any rudeness or any intent, those pliant shoulders of Rex's had shut out the hovering slim water-wagtail, black and white, and who, in the group that was about Joy. But now he, Geoffrey, was at her other side. "You are dancing this, Joy?" he asked.

Before Joy could answer she heard Rex's smiling, quiet, convinced "You are dancing this with me." There is an arpeggio played on the harp as "carry over" between two melodies; it starts on a ring that blooms like the buzz of a bee embosomed in depths of the deepest rose; it ripples up and up the scale, plucking the harp's heartstrings with it! Up, up, in thrilling ascent to the string that shrills like the lark caroling in the heights of the morning sky. Then down and down, the scale, plucking the heartstrings with it—down, down again to that low boom of that her embosomed in those depths of the deepest damask rose.

This arpeggio, rather than words, can describe the vibrant, joyous and utter coming alive of that ran through all the fibers of Joy as Rex put out his arm and drew her to him. It was only for a dance, of course, as Joy wildly reminded herself. Only for a mere, ordinary fox-trot with a Negro jazz band playing and crowds of judges, who were Riviera summer season visitors, spinning about them. Rex was not really putting an arm about her, as he had put it on that balcony night. Not really! Yet it felt so like "real." All bitterness of this morning seemed about to melt those words about "my freedom," "you're standing in front of the door"—legal formalities—discuss later, "thank you"—seemed to lose meaning. What are words against the magnetism of touch?

Incredibly Rex took up his message as he held her close, fragrant, warm in his arms. ("She likes me to hold her?")

Wildly Joy thought, "Yes! I'm not dreaming this! It feels as if he wants to hold me!"

Moment of rapture, born only to die? For it was at that moment and before they had even swung into step together that Rex caught sight of that small uniformed figure chasing signaling to him.

"Monsieur le docteur?" With a brusque "Sorry! one moment!" he drew Joy out of the throng and went to the boy in raspberry red and gold, who handed up a note.

"Hello, Mrs. Travers!" This was Colonel Hay-Molynex, who was passing on the way to what he called a dance with himself in the American cocktail bar, who skirted a couple of dancers, and paused.

"What do you think of that for an engaged girl's behavior?" He nodded towards his fiancée, Mrs. Ford, who, looking radiant in some edifying, fluttering French fragility, waltzed past them with some youth with whom she was evidently indulging in the Edwardian pastime of flirtation. Nothing would keep Pansy down tonight, nothing, probably, would again defeat her, even though her Jim, engaged or unattached, would always find leisure and inclination to twinkle down upon any pretty woman. "Your good man called away?"

"Yes," smiled Joy, with her finger-nails in her palms. "He would be just—just at a dance and all!"

"Warning to any young woman not to become a doctor's wife," twinkled the soldier, standing for a moment beside her. "Must be a great nuisance at times, these patients? And it's probably only my aunt's girl friend, Miss Weave, again wanting to know what she's to do when she can't sleep; why doesn't he tell her to dash well count sheep? Hello, Geoff!"

He made way for the younger man who had come up again, and who was smiling appealingly at Joy, to receive Joy's duty smile. Hay-Molynex nodded, smiled bar-wards.

"Joy," began Geoffrey. Here Rex returned, Joy, turning quickly, looked her "What was it?" Brusquely her husband told her. "It's that sister-in-law of Melanie's up at Craggs; I promised Melanie I'd go and look after her myself when that baby turned up. Explain to the others that I'm sorry, couldn't be helped, had to go."

Without a regretful glance, Rex was gone. She could not tell that the mere sight of her perfumery smile at Geoffrey had chilled him like a drop of cold water dashed into boiling milk. Rex was gone, leaving the sound of his voice, brusque and detached, to cut across the spell of touch.

Joy was left feeling—Again to translate sensation into sound, it was as though suddenly someone's hand had been laid flat across vibrating strings, quenching in a moment all the music of that arpeggio.

Rex was gone; she was dancing with Geoffrey Ford. "I have been waiting for this, Joy," he murmured as they slid into step. "I'm sorry," said Joy, who was too tired of Geoffrey now to be jarred by the plaintive "be kind to your old sweetheart note in his voice." "I seemed to be all booked up before I knew."

"I'm sorry," said Joy, who was too tired of Geoffrey now to be jarred by the plaintive "be kind to your old sweetheart note in his voice." "I seemed to be all booked up before I knew."

"I mean, I have been waiting, really, for six months."

"Have you?" said Joy. Listlessly! Absently!

And Geoffrey realized that even while she was so close to him that he could read the deepest secret she had taken to putting on her hair, the girl was now miles away from him. Close, warm and perfumed, in his arm she was not there at all.

Here, then, was the definite answer to his wonderings of weeks, his uncertainty of two days. Unmistakably, Joy was miles away from him, whom she had once adored, and was unhappy into the bargain. Being a vain man, her ex-fiancee was naturally piqued; being a sympathetic soul, he was genuinely sorry for her. Being himself he was more interested than piqued; perhaps even more interested than sorry?

"Curious," he mused within himself, dancing with this far-distant blue-eyed stranger Joy, "curious that as soon as I know for certain one way or the other, I am immune. Can't love any woman who is unmistakably mine to keep; can't be in love with any woman who isn't sensitive to me! Here's Joy, now, completely indifferent—and I'm coming over all kindly-like because she's in some trouble. What's it about? Probably the blonde brute's been throwing me up at her? Obviously he did not intend to let me have a word with her tonight. In any case she is miles away. Miles!"

But for a bitter passing reflection that six months ago it would have seemed such crazy fun to be dancing here with Geoffrey Ford ("an ironic business life," as Geoffrey, with most other writers, often said; she hardly knew with whom she was dancing, or had ceased to dance.

To her the scene and the people among whom she danced were merely so much wallpaper to a room in which she was shut up alone with miserable thoughts.

OUR CLUB—By Seckatary Hawkins

THE SKINNY GUY TOOK THE FELLOWS FISHING THIS MORNING. I WALKED INTO THE WOODS. I WANTED TO FIND OUT ABOUT THAT QUEER LIGHT I SAW LAST NIGHT. IT HAD ME WORRIED.

SUDDENLY AN OWL HOOTED. I HID BEHIND SOME BUSHES. I KNOW OWLS DON'T HOOT IN THE DAYTIME. I THOUGHT IT MUST BE A PELHAM SIGNAL, AND IT WAS.

TWO PELHAMS, HAM GARDNER AND BOOBY WARREN CAME INTO SIGHT. I WASN'T SCARED NOW I COULD LICK BOOBY WARREN, WITH ANOTHER FELLOWS THROWN IN, SO I STOOD UP AND BOOBY RAN AWAY.

HAM GARDNER SAID, 'HAWKINS, IT'S NO USE TO FIGHT BACK, YOU FELLOWS! SOONER OR LATER!' I SAID, 'HOW DO YOU GET THAT WAY, HAM?' HE SAID, 'HONEST, HAWKINS, I'VE GOT TO TAKE YOU PRISONER!'

HAM SAID THE ISLAND BELONGED TO THE PELHAMS, AND BRIGGEN AND HIS GANG ARE HIDING—WAITING FOR A CHANCE TO CAPTURE ALL US FELLOWS. THEY'VE DECLARED WAR ON US AGAIN. GIVE TILL TOMORROW.

Al Fresco Tea Honors Primary N. E. A. Teachers

An al fresco tea was given Sunday afternoon at the East Lake Club in honor of the delegates representing the Kindergarten Association of America, given by the primary kindergarten teachers, of Atlanta. Misses Ethel Massengale, Ethel Bittick and Mrs. Guy Coker were in charge with Dr. Willis Sutton and Miss Postell as official hostesses assisted by the Atlanta kindergarten teachers.

The tea was staged on the broad green terrace with the tea tables at the foot and the cool lake, while on the clubhouse veranda was stationed the S. M. Inman School band, which furnished music. This band is said to be one of the largest and best drilled grammar school bands in the south, and is under the direction of Mrs. W. W. Woolfolk, with Miss Evelyn Hicks pianist, and includes 48 members, ages ranging from 6 to 12.

Among the guests interested in this branch of N. E. A. work is Dr. Mary Davis, of Washington, D. C., president of the department of kindergarten primary education, which covers nursery schools, kindergarten and primary grade work. She is a leading figure in the work and believes in group discussions being held during the convention, in which every member is invited to take part.

Mrs. Ira Jones Is Honored.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. West entertained at dinner Sunday at their home on Peachtree road, in compliment to their sister, Mrs. Ira Jones, of Los Angeles, Cal., formerly Miss Genie West, of Atlanta, and a group of her friends who are prominent educators in attendance on the N. E. A. convention.

The table was adorned with pink Radiance roses and budleia from the gardens of the hostess arranged in an Italian bowl, the places of the guests being designated by Stone Mountain Memorial coins, minted by the United States government in memory of the valor of the southern soldiers, of whom the late General A. J. West, father of the host and honor guest, was a Confederate officer.

Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. West, Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Florence Hampton, Miss Agnes Knight, Mr. Clifton, Dr. Gwin and Mr. Thurston.

Mrs. Hampton is president of the Los Angeles Kindergarten Club; Miss Knight is chairman of the education committee of Los Angeles Kindergarten Club; Mrs. Jones is a member of the executive board of the California Teachers' Association, and Mr. Thompson is president of the California Teachers' Association, southern section.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

PETER SEES A BIG FAMILY. BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

"Look over on that flat rock," replied Peter. "You'll see the reason surrounded by a lot of little reasons."

Chatterer looked over and saw Mrs. Watersnake and her family. "What have they got to do with fish?" demanded Chatterer.

Just then Mrs. Watersnake slid out again, this time with a trout in her mouth. Chatterer said not a word. He understood then what Peter had meant.

"Did you ever see so many children in one family?" demanded Peter.

"Yes," replied Chatterer. "I've seen more. I've seen Mrs. Garternake with a bigger family than that."

"I haven't, but that doesn't matter," replied Peter. "This family is big enough. Just think of the number of fish it will take to feed all those snakes when they get big enough to eat small minnows and small trout."

"That's so," agreed Chatterer, "and all the time other people will be getting blamed for taking too many fish. That's the way it goes in this world. Well, I don't like snakes and I'm not going to stay here."

"Neither am I," replied Peter. And they both scampered away.

The next story: "Peter Rabbit Looks for Bob White."

Look over on that flat rock, replied Peter.

Fishing and doing it without being seen, it was just by chance that Peter had discovered this. That some one else was Mrs. Watersnake. Peter had seen her take two nice trout in succession from a certain pool in the Laughing Brook. Undoubtedly, Mr. Watersnake was catching his share. Judging by what he had seen of Mrs. Watersnake's appetite, Peter felt that it wouldn't take many Watersnakes along the length of the Laughing Brook to cause a shortage in the supply of fish.

It was a few days after Peter had seen Mrs. Watersnake beside that certain little pool that he again sat beneath a fern where he could remain hidden, but could see all that went on about him. For a long time nothing happened. Finally Peter dozed. When he opened his eyes again that flat rock where he had seen Mrs. Watersnake take her sunbath and eat her fish was covered with snakes. Yes, sir, it was literally covered with snakes. Mrs. Watersnake was there and crawling around her and over her were little Watersnakes. At least, Peter assumed they were little Watersnakes and in this he was right.

"Goodness!" gasped Peter. "Can that possibly be all one family? I never have heard of any one with so many children. I'll count them."

But Peter didn't count them. They wouldn't keep still long enough. By the time he had reached a dozen he couldn't tell which ones he had counted and which ones he hadn't counted. So at last he gave that up. As a matter of fact, there were over 30 children for Mrs. Watersnake was unusually large and she had a very large family.

Chatterer the Red Squirrel happened to come along and Peter saw him.

"Do you remember, Chatterer," said Peter, "how Billy Mink and Buster Bear were complaining because the fishing was so poor? I think I know the reason."

"Well, what is the reason?" demanded Chatterer?

"Look over on that flat rock," replied Peter. "You'll see the reason surrounded by a lot of little reasons."

Chatterer looked over and saw Mrs. Watersnake and her family. "What have they got to do with fish?" demanded Chatterer.

Just then Mrs. Watersnake slid out again, this time with a trout in her mouth. Chatterer said not a word. He understood then what Peter had meant.

For a long time nothing happened. Finally Peter dozed. When he opened his eyes again that flat rock where he had seen Mrs. Watersnake take her sunbath and eat her fish was covered with snakes. Yes, sir, it was literally covered with snakes. Mrs. Watersnake was there and crawling around her and over her were little Watersnakes. At least, Peter assumed they were little Watersnakes and in this he was right.

"Goodness!" gasped Peter. "Can that possibly be all one family? I never have heard of any one with so many children. I'll count them."

But Peter didn't count them. They wouldn't keep still long enough. By the time he had reached a dozen he couldn't tell which ones he had counted and which ones he hadn't counted. So at last he gave that up. As a matter of fact, there were over 30 children for Mrs. Watersnake was unusually large and she had a very large family.

Mother of Eight Boys

"I read an ad in the newspaper and I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I will recommend this medicine to any woman who is in bad shape like I was. I used to get so tired after a few hours work that I was even afraid in my own house in the daytime. I didn't care if I lived or died. I have given birth to eight boys and feel strong right after, since I have taken the Compound."

Atlanta Gets Away to Early Lead—Let It Slip.

By Ralph McGill.

All the dye faded right out of the Crackers-Mobile game yesterday afternoon at Spiller field. It became very soon a very colorless contest. Color was the only thing that ran fast. The Bears emerged out in front 7 to 6—finally.

It was just one of those hot days when the boys were just going through the motions. The game was tied up most of the time. The Crackers had a lead twice but it was probably too hot to hold a lead.

The Bears got to Roaring Joe Kiefer in rather lively fashion as the game progressed. It was a couple of base knocks in the eighth that really won the ball game. Red Oldham and his left arm were hurried out to the mound in that inning as a relief measure.

B. Ed Danforth

Bob Jones returns today with his ninth bunk of side meat. Those who know Bob Jones know that the ordeal of being mob is as tough as 108 holes of golf anywhere in America.

Bob Jones is that modest. Yet he is the only man in the world who attaches so little importance to what he has done.

State champion at 14 years, southern champion at 15, national open champion at 21, national amateur champion at 22, British open champion at 24—Bob Jones seems to have nowhere to go but to win the same championships over and over again and no escape from these welcoming parties.

Yet he must bear with the home folks who will never get tired of having their feet stepped upon and their straw hats banged askew for a sight of him as he detains. There are those who hope to keep on doing this every year from now on as long as the Southern runs into the Peachtree station.

JONES PROVES HE IS WORLD'S BEST GOLFER

Bob's Record Since 1910 Shows Him Worthy of Position.

By Dick Hawkins.

Each year when Robert Tyre Jones goes out and wins another major title the old question arises regarding his status as the world's greatest golfer.

And each year the whole golfing world is being more easily convinced.

Today Robert Tyre returns from Long Island, where he has just won his third national open golf title and his ninth major title, including two British opens. The old question of superiority will rise again in certain sections of the country but the objections to Robert's coronation will be just "duds" in the great bombardment of popularity.

The most interesting part of all the acclaim is the story that lies behind it through the years from 1910 to the present. The years forgotten about by most of the acclaiming millions but not forgotten by Robert Tyre Jones, the hero.

The Same Old Story in the Same Old Way

Bob Jones is shown winning and receiving his ninth major golf trophy, this one the national open golf championship cup. At the top he is sinking the last putt on the last green Sunday afternoon in the match wherein he defeated Al Espinosa by 23 strokes in a 36-hole match. Below Jones is receiving the cup from Finley Douglas, president of the United States Golf Association. Al Espinosa, the runner-up, is the third figure in the picture.

LEGISLATURE WILL JOIN IN GREAT TRIBUTE

Thousands Expected to Greet Open Golf Champion At Station.

By Associated Press.

The greatest of all the welcomes he has ever received when returning victorious from fields of conquest awaits Bob Jones, for the third time national open golf champion, today.

The house of representatives in biennial session halted in its law-making Monday to adopt a resolution extending its official congratulations to the golfing Georgian. The resolution was proposed by Representative Huddleston, of Meriwether county, where Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt has a home.

Extending the royal welcome to the returning knight of the niblick has been rather regular in recent years, but his friends and members by the score indicate that previous greetings will pale beside the one they will present today.

ONE TALLY.

The Bears got one of the two hitters across and won with the low tally. The Crackers started out with the laudable ambition to win the ball game and get seriously about the business of getting up in the first division. Larry Gilbert had told them they had the best pitching staff in the league. He was probably correct unless his own staff is superior. The Cracker staff is good.

It was pitching, though, that spoiled the play yesterday. That and a hot tired feeling. Joe Kiefer couldn't hold the two leads that were given him.

Pels Rebel.

Just as it was beginning to appear—to those who were not wholly absorbed in the Bob Jones open golf championship—that the Birmingham Barons had the current Southern league pennant hoist on the halcyons ready for beating, along came the Pelicans and put out a lot of ball playing for Jules Heinemann.

And this week saw the Pelicans making gestures as if they were about to challenge the leadership of the Barons. While frantic S. O. S. calls are being sent Cleveland for help (Pelicans are not satisfied with their club entirely), the Pels won four out of five games while the Barons were losing three for three.

FIRST VICTORY.

Back in 1910 when Bob was a baby, a boy of eight years he won a special children's tournament at East Lake and two years later when he was but 10, he won the junior tournament out at the club.

When he was 13 years of age he stepped up with the menfolk and began a career that is unparalleled in the history of the game. Early in 1915 he was runner-up in the second flight of the southern amateur tournament at East Lake and that same year he won the club championships of both East Lake and Druid Hills. He also took his first trip out of town and won an invitation tournament at the Roebuck Country Club in Birmingham.

HELEN, TILDEN IN SEMI-FINALS

Both American Stars Advance at Wimbledon. Lott Is Defeated.

By Frank H. King.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

Wimbledon, Eng., July 1.—(AP)—Bill Tilden fought his way into the semi-finals of the Wimbledon tennis tournament today, but a younger American, George Lott, fell victim to a tri-color racket.

In an even break for the French and American forces, Jean Borotra, the aging, but still agile "bouncing Basque" eliminated Lott in a quarter-final match by scores of 6-3, 6-3, 6-4. Shortly after Tilden had defeated Pierre Landry, one of the lesser lights of France, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3, 7-5.

COCHET FAVORED.

With Cochet favored over Tilden and with Borotra the logical choice over H. W. Austin, the youthful Englishman who won the other berth among the last surviving four, the advance hope points to an all-French final in men's singles while in the women's division it begins to look as though two Americans might meet for the championship.

The famous Helens of the United States—Miss Wills, the champion, and Miss Jacobs—both came through to the semi-finals, in impressive style today and a divorcee, Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, also still is in the running. Mrs. Bundy, winner of the title 24 years ago, and Miss Joan Ridley, of England, meet tomorrow in the only quarter-final singles match yet to be played.

DRIVERS WORK AT LAKEWOOD

Swan Peterson Makes Fast Time in Trial Spin.

Clipping the still somewhat roughened course of the Lakewood mile oval in sensational style, Swan Peterson, midwest dirt track champion, came within two seconds of the track record—a tryout last Monday afternoon preliminary to the Fourth of July auto races.

Peterson was testing out his Frontenac race car in easy fashion when he noticed a railbird clocking him from the judge's stand. Thereupon the Norse speed star apparently trotted the throttle to the floorboard and whirled around the turns and down the straightaways in championship fashion.

Chargers Dropped Against C. C. Pyle

Los Angeles, July 1.—(AP)—The state labor commissioner's office today announced that complaints made against C. C. Pyle, promoter of the recent banion derby from New York to Los Angeles, by two actresses, a runner, and a patrolman, had been dropped for lack of jurisdiction.

The complaints were made by persons who severed their relations with Pyle before entering California, and who stated they had entered into agreements in New York, the announcement said. Those who made complaints were Jeanette Richards, Florence Carr, Frank Fekete, and Leon Spencer.

BEARS WIN.

That was all the Cracker scoring. The Bears tied the score in the seventh and won the game in the eighth before Red Oldham could do anything about it. They got no hits off him but two sacrifices got in the winning run. Bob Harris got his second hit of the game in the ninth but he received no hitting help.

The boys seemed to be all wore out, as we say, when the clock struck ten. That tied the score. There was no special ability in it. Nick Cullip was handicapped by a bad hand. There is a slight chance that he will be out of the game today. It is too sore for him to grip a bat properly.

GOING, GOING.

Gossip from the major league sector indicates that managers' heads will fall like autumn leaves at the usual time.

Jack Hendricks, they say, will be sent to the showers by the owners of the Reds.

Uncle Wilbert Robinson is managing and piloting his last Dodgers. Judge Emil Fuchs has had enough of it at Boston.

ON SOUTHERN TEAM.

When he was 18 years of age in 1920 he started the year by winning the southern amateur championship at Chattanooga, then won low medal in the western open at Memphis, then he won the national amateur at Pittsburgh. From there he went to Canada where he was runner-up to J. Douglas Edgar in the Canadian open championship. He also finished second in Jim Barnes in the southern open championship at East Lake.

CAVUGA WINS AT ARLINGTON

Shady Brook Racers Takes Lead and Wins Easily in Inaugural.

Chicago, July 1.—(P)—Cavuga, entrained with the Shady Brook farm, romped away with the $7,500 added American national handicap, the inaugural feature at Arlington park, this afternoon.

Greenock was second and Doubleheart finished third in the six furlong dash. Cavuga jumped into the lead at the halfway mark and ran away with the race, finishing eight lengths in front of Greenock.

His time over a heavy track was 1:17. He paid $5.25 to win, $2.98 to place, and $2.40 to show. Greenock paid $14.20 to place, and $9.40 to show, while Doubleheart paid $5.20 to show.

Martiniere Wins Again.

New York, July 1.—(P)—Martiniere, a four-year-old filly which carries the colors of D. E. Stewart, is going about the business of winning as she is just about the best of her sex among the older thoroughbreds on the American turf this year.

Today at Latonia, in the Sinton Hotel handicap—a gallop of a mile and a sixteenth—the little brown daughter of Eusign-Petite Martiniere, a field of seven experienced runners. It was Martiniere's second consecutive victory.

Back four lengths and running second to the speedy Stewart filly was W. H. Whitehouse's five-year-old Royal Julian. In third position was the Man O' War five-year-old horse, Broadside, owned by L. B. Combs.

Much of the credit for Martiniere's victory goes to the masterly ride given her by Jockey C. E. Allen. Allen narrowly had escaped serious injury in the preceding race, when his mount fell. However, he was able to put a leg up on the Stewart entry and guide her to victory in 1:46 1-5 over a muddy track.

Latonia turned in its usual daily longshot when C. N. Lewis' Star Forward romped away with the opening event and paid her backers $63.22 for a $2 win ticket at the mutual windows.

The getway week at Aqueduct was ushered in by the running of the Myrtle claiming stakes—a sprint of one mile, which went to the Canyon stable four-year-old Bridgetown. Running second was the Alton stable's Negopolis, while R. C. Wimmil's Wonderl was third.

Stepping the route in 1:39 4-5 and leading the field of six starters home was worth $3,925 to the owner of the winner.

The six furlong feature at Fairmont park—a $1,000 claiming event, was accounted for by G. W. Ogle's Governor Seth, a four-year-old gelding. Time was 1:14.

SOUTHERN RACE.

A race for southerners only, to be known as the Dixie dash, will give Green, of Orlando; Goff, of Birmingham; Martina, of New Orleans; Waller, of Blakely, and Bracken, of Birmingham, a chance in a field that will likely include several Macon entries.

"Speedy" Goff and "Junie" Bracken are due in Atlanta today and will likely test out their speed creations at Lakewood. C. J. Waller and Tony Martina are expected to arrive tomorrow.

Interest in Goff's A-Ford entry continues. The latest and most authentic dope is that there are two carburetors on the motor and that the Alabama has "hooped up" the inside in some fast fashion.

WINS AT BRAE BURN.

In 1928 Bob declined to defend his British open title but entered the national open at Olympia Fields, Chicago. He tied with Johnny Farrell at 204 and lost by one stroke in the 36-hole playoff. Many thought he might go one year without a national title but they did not know about Brae Burn and the national amateur in the fall. He won his fourth amateur title by crushing all his opposition except Ray Gorton by tremendous scores.

During the winter of 1928-29 he laid aside his golf clubs and did not play half a dozen rounds of golf for several months. Many thought he couldn't stand the pace of national competition. What he has just done at the Winged Foot course on Long Island is too recent history to be repeated. He has just won his ninth national title and has once more proven that he is the greatest of them all.

The result was never in doubt, however, after Miss Willis unworked some of the speediest of her drives, ending with one that knocked the racquet from Miss Heine's hand.

In other matches today, Miss Willis and Frank Hunter defeated Mrs. John Hill and G. I. Hughes, of England, 6-3, 6-2, in mixed doubles, and John Hennessy, Indianapolis, and Miss Marjorie Morrill, Dedham, Mass., were eliminated, 6-0, 5-7, 6-1, by another English team consisting of Malcolm and Miss D. Cole. Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, of the American Davis cup team, trimmed Jan Kozel, Czechoslovakia, and E. D. Andrew, former New Zealander, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2.

BRITISH OPEN.

Journeying abroad in 1926 Bob won the British open with a score of 201, then came back to this country to win the American open at Scioto with a score of 205. He lost to George Von Elm in the finals of the amateur championship at Baltusrol.

The next year found him further down the list than ever before when he finished in a tie for eighth place in the national open, but he won the British open again that year with a score of 205, the lowest score ever shot in that event. He also won the national amateur title at Minikahda in the fall, beating Chick Evans, 8-7, in the finals.

German Will Leave Monday on Barnstorming With Manager Jacobs.

New York, July 1.—(United News.)—Max Schmeling will show his wares to American and Canadian fight fans from coast-to-coast on a six-week barnstorming tour beginning Monday, July 8, the German heavyweight's manager, Joe Jacobs, announced today.

The conqueror of Paulino Uzcudun, who with Jack Sharkey, of Boston, shares the role of leading heavyweight contender, will appear in 25 cities, giving boxing exhibitions against a troupe of sparring partners which he will carry with him.

Schmeling turned down several theatrical and vaudeville offers in order to make the tour.

William McCarey, who accompanied Jack Dempsey, Jess Willard and Luis Firpo on similar tours, will conduct the German's tour.

Schmeling has engaged in five fights in this country, four of them in New York and the other in Newark.

'Prehistoric' Golf Course Planned

St. Petersburg, Fla., June 30. (P)—St. Petersburg is to have a new golf course, the terrain for which was thrown up by prehistoric man.

Bunkers will be burial mounds of people who lived and died a thousand or more years ago, and one of the principal hazards will be a deep water hole, dug either by the prehistoric peoples or the Indians who followed them, and from which DeSoto got water for his fleet of six ships when he landed on Weedon's island on Sunday, May 25, 1529, with 620 men and 223 horses.

The course will be eighteen holes, with each nine starting and ending at the clubhouse. It will be owned by a golf club corporation and is intended primarily for wealthy winter visitors.

Present plans are that the course will be ready for playing by January 1.

The tour will open in Philadelphia and will include the following itinerary: Reading, Allentown, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, Salt Lake City, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Vancouver, Calgary, Winnipeg, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Chicago, Detroit, Toronto and Montreal.

Important Series Booked This Week

Athletics Show Signs of Cracking—National Leaders To Stage Hot Fight.

New York, July 1.—(United News.)—Major league contenders are gathering their forces for the big July drive in the two pennant races.

The third interseasonal series will begin this week, with the American league clubs playing in the west and the National league clubs playing in the east. The result of these east-west games will play a prominent part in determining the two pennant winners.

The New York Yankees refuse to concede the American league pennant to the Philadelphia Athletics.

Although riding high on an eight-game lead over the second-place St. Louis Browns, the Athletics have shown signs of cracking under the strain in their last two games. They blew wide open behind Lefty Grove in the final game against the Yankees Saturday and then dropped their second game in a row for the second time this season to Washington yesterday.

The Athletics have made seven errors in their last two games. The Yankees, in third place, gained a game on the Athletics by winning from the Red Sox today and are now 9 games from the top.

Anything can happen and probably will in the National league race, where the Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates are setting the present pace, with the New York Giants, regarded as the most dangerous contenders, in third place—3 1-2 games from the top. The St. Louis Cardinals are badly demoralized now, but are still within striking distance of the Cubs.

Good Golfers Fight Consistently Against Bad Luck, Says Getty

'Lady Luck' Needed At Winged Foot Club

Slightest Deviation Left It Up to Fate To Decide What Player Scored on Hole.

By Frank Getty
United Press Sports Editor

New York, July 1.—(United Press.)—The reason for the collapse of most of the prominent contenders in the recent national open championship provided a puzzle for golfers.

How come, they demanded, that Johnny Farrell, defending champion, failed to qualify for the last 36 holes? What happened to Walter Hagen, who had the stuff to win the British open, but could get nowhere at Winged Foot? Why should Bobby Jones suddenly let down and take a 79 for his final round, forcing a play-off in which a capable performer like Al Espinosa shot rounds of 84 and 80?

The answer is, why not? We have become so accustomed to consistently good performances on the part of our leading golfers, that we sometimes forget how tricky and uncertain a game this thing called golf can be.

Luck plays a far greater part in golf than is generally realized. A golfer of Bobby Jones' caliber—and there is none better—is constantly fighting to avoid bad luck, not hoping for the good "breaks." So it is with Walter Hagen, although the mercurial "Sir Walter" usually counts upon a "break" here and there to bring him through.

TOUGH COURSE.
At Winged Foot, the iron play, the second shot, had to be so accurate that the least deviation from the line left it up to old lady luck to decide the golfer's fate.

The openings to the greens were narrow and the greens themselves shallow. Unless a drive was placed with exceeding accuracy the player was gambling when he hit his second shot.

Johnny Farrell, who was decidedly over-golfed, was the first victim at Winged Foot. The ex-champion didn't get a real good "break" during his first two rounds. As a result he was a spectator when the field went out for the last two rounds.

NO LUCK.
Walter Hagen, also over-golfed, needed more luck than the fates had in store for him this time. He was not playing particularly bad golf, but he was far back in the field. At the end, "The Haig" was shooting to get inside the first 30, so that he would not be required to qualify for next year's open.

The sudden let-down of Bobby Jones, which precipitated the anti-climatic tie, can be explained in another way. The Atlanta was thoroughly fed up with things at Winged Foot.

Bobby came to this championship with one idea in mind, and that was to beat Horton Smith.

This is not generally known. Jones might have passed up this particular open if he hadn't heard so much about the young Missourian who was to supplant him atop the golfing world.

He found his clubs, although he hadn't used them a dozen times since last October. He came to Winged Foot and proceeded to spend eagle the field for the first three rounds. Looking around at his pursuers he couldn't see Horton Smith for the crowd.

FED UP.
About that time, Bobby got a little fed up with the whole affair. He let down, and even he cannot do that and still play his golf. As a result, he was forced into extra two rounds.

Bob Jones Wins 9 Major Titles In 7-Year Period

Mamaronck, N. Y., July 1.—(AP)—Bobby Jones has won nine national golf championships in the United States and Great Britain during the last seven years. This is how he has done it:

1922—Won national open, winning play-off after tying Bobby Cruikshank at 292.
1923—Won national amateur, beating George Von Elm, 9 and 8, in final.
1924—Won national open with 293; won British open with 285.
1925—Won national amateur, beating Chick Evans, 8 and 7, in final; won British open with 285.
1926—Won national amateur, beating Thomas P. Perkins, Great Britain, 10 and 9, in final.
1927—Won national open, winning play-off after tying Al Espinosa at 294.

Browns—Real test for Browns comes against Yankees and Athletics, but are in race because of 15 victories over White Sox, Manush and Schulte supplying most of team's attack but Gray, Collins and Haebeholder have been pitching consistently.

Yankees—With Pennock, Pignas, Heimach, Wells and Hoyt ready to rotate on the mound, Yankees are in better shape for drive on Athletics' lead than at any time since season opened. Babe Ruth's return to form has put new life in team.

Cubs—Lack sustained drive, but are fighting gamely to hold the lead. Bush, Malone and Root giving Cubs good pitching, but team is sixth in batting with .288. Weak spot at third and Wilson isn't hitting.

Pirates—Great pitching of Grimes and great hitting of Traynor is keeping Pirates in race. Gap at shortstop and pitching spasmodic. Weak on defense.

Giants—Terry, Roush and Ott give Giants most powerful offensive in league, but pitching is far below championship class. Second base still a problem.

Cardinals—Pitching staff shot to pieces and team generally in the dumps. Hitting of Frisch, Hefey and Bottomley, however, make Cardinals always a threat.

PACIFIC TEAMS HOLD WORKOUTS

Athletes From Coast Arrive at Denver for A. A. U. Track Meet.

Denver, Colo., July 1.—(United Press.)—Pacific coast teams arrived here today for the National A. A. U. track and field championships beginning Wednesday. The athletes shook a few kinks out of their legs and immediately went into Denver university's quarter-mile cinder path for their first practice.

The stars of Los Angeles Athletic Club and the Olympic Club of San Francisco expressed satisfaction with the track and field, and predicted record-breaking performances would mark the meet.

Henry Coggeshall, Olympic Club, donned his track suit a few minutes after arrival and gave the railbirds at the field a good exhibition of jumping by easing over the bar at a little more than six feet.

Coggeshall now holds the unofficial world's record of 6 feet 6 1/4 inches for the high jump.

William Milner, Coggeshall's teammate, also went over the bar with the little effort. Milner has cleared the bar at 6 feet 3 1/2 inches.

Ed Hamm, Birmingham Athletic Club, cracked the world's record and jumped mark of 25 feet 3 1/2 inches, whirled through the air in practice events today and pronounced himself a fit competitor.

Hamm only recently recovered from an appendicitis operation and is slightly underweight.

Ward Edwards, Stanford hurler and pole vaulter, took a sunny drill to show the fans he was in top shape.

George Simpson, Ohio State's star sprinter, cracked the world's record and jumped mark of 25 feet 3 1/2 inches, whirled through the air in practice events today and pronounced himself a fit competitor.

Boston's Athletic Club team, led by the star miler, Leo Germond, arrived here today and went through a fast workout today.

NEW MARKS PREDICTED

altitude where the air resistance is materially less. What effect air resistance might have on a 100-yard dash or a 100-yard run is a question that might lead to a complicated lot of figuring. My guess is that it would be quite a difference to be noted on the steel tape. But there is a certain exhilaration in the rare, dry air of high altitudes that might easily make a runner's performance in performance. It improves the athlete. I know I always could throw a hammer ten feet farther in the dry, cool air of California than in New York's heavy summer heat. And it wasn't a difference in the way the hammer traveled, or in tapes, though it was a popular pastime in New York a few years ago to claim that steel tapes shrunk and watches ran slower in the far west, being one of the effects of the "marvelous climates."

The discs might not be thrown as far as far as Denver, rare air at that high altitude not offering quite as substantial support for the scaling platter. A discus, like an army, "travels on its belly." It sails like an airplane. The air keeps it up until it loses speed.

The A. A. U. athletic sharp admit that the distance runners competing at Denver without living there for at least a few weeks to accommodate their lungs to rare air will not be able to make the time they can under thick air conditions. Distance men always find it hard to run in high altitudes after training near the sea level. It doesn't make any difference to men whose lung capacity has been built up by running at high altitudes.

FASTER SPRINTING.
But the sprinters, according to official doping, should run faster at Denver than anywhere else.

Mr. Oberbussing, best A. A. U. handicapper, figures this way:

In the first place, rare air may not make a lot of difference to a 100-yard dash man, because these birds practice a certain economy of breathing anyway. A 100-yard man takes one long, deep breath just as he kicks away from the mark. He hasn't any time to bother about breathing again until he reaches the 50-yard mark. He needs the expanded chest to keep his engines centered, just as a Japanese jitsu artist tightens his stomach muscles and feels strength radiating from that center. The sprinter, breathing no air in puffing and panting, throws everything into moving his arms and legs. You may have noticed that most of the best sprinters show a sudden "jump" just after they pass the 50-yard mark. That's where they have exhaled and gulped down another big air supply. The second breath helps them until they hit the tape or go over the finish line.

RESISTANCE LESS.
Mr. Oberbussing is of the opinion that a sprinter won't have time, taking only two big breaths, to notice that he is drawing in air of a thinner and perhaps less nourishing variety. Also Mr. Oberbussing has a theory not worked out in foot pounds and all that scientific fool de rol, but just the result of a first-class handicapper's common sense and observation over many years of experience, handicapping runners on the strength of their best performance under all possible conditions, that sprinters go faster where they don't have to push their way through a lot of wet humid air. At a meet last April in Fresno, Calif., where the air is dry and light, Borch and Wykoff ran two heats each in 9.6 seconds—a feat never equaled on any eastern track, but starting with Borch at Denver in 100 yards in about eight seconds in a true vacuum, if it were possible to get a vacuum covering a 100-yard stretch, a sprinter could run at all in a vacuum. In a vacuum of course there would not be any air resistance. The Denver air, at that high altitude, Mr. Oberbussing figures, will act as a partial vacuum, perhaps giving the sprinter less resistance but at the same time offering less resistance to the speeding body.

I gathered from Mr. Oberbussing's remarks that he also has a private and entirely personal opinion, not to be represented as the A. A. U. official thought, that at Denver's high altitude a sprinter, running at a greater distance from the earth's center, may not feel the drag of the force of gravity quite so much when his feet are off the ground in the ground in leaps and bounds, and this may add inches to his stride.

KLEIN BOOSTS PHILS' STOCK

Chuck's Big Bat Makes Him Very Valuable Major Leaguer.

New York, July 1.—Charles (Chuck) Klein, youthful home run sensation of the National league, was considered such a pelotaka in 1927 by a minor league club head that he was sold for $200.

At current prices the hard-hitting Mr. Klein is worth any figure as long as you keep it above $100,000. His terrific clouting has so bolstered the Phillies that they no longer are anybody's dish of spinach on the ball field.

The amazing deal by which a ball club parted with Klein's services for a sum which wouldn't pay for a second hand diver is described by Dan Seism, sports editor of the Evansville, Ind., Courier, in a letter.

Seism writes:

"Adolph Stallman, a school probation officer, discovered Klein. Stallman, having once played minor league ball himself, knows a few things about the game, and when he spotted Klein playing with an Indianapolis semi-pro outfit he galloped to G. A. Bear, president of the Evansville club, with the news that he had discovered a red-hot prospect who could win a ball from one county to another."

"It took Stallman half the winter of 1926-1927 to persuade Bear to trade Klein for the season of 1927 and promptly sent Klein back home after a week or two of the campaign."

"Roy Whitcraft was manager of the Evansville team for the season of 1927 and promptly sent Klein back home after a week or two of the campaign."

"Then when the Evansville club was firmly entrenched in the Three-I league cellar, Klein was recalled in August and played about 14 games before fracturing his ankle sliding into first."

"The Fan Association, which owned the club that season lost about 20,000 spectators. The association sold out to Bob Coleman, who was backed by Detroit. Coleman bought the franchise but not the players, which were left with the old association. Bear, association president, sold them to Coleman, who could get and if he couldn't get anything he gave them away."

"Klein was one of the boys he almost gave away. Fort Wayne, of the Central league, wanted Lee Walsh, big Evansville first sacker. Bear was willing to take $200 for Walsh provided Fort Wayne would give $200 for Klein. Fort Wayne made the deal."

National Clay Court Tournament Delayed

Indianapolis, July 1.—(AP)—Rain today caused a postponement until tomorrow of the opening matches of the national clay court tennis championship tournament here.

As a result of the delay, it was decided that early round matches would be two out of three sets, instead of three out of five.

Sultan of Swat Has Perfect Day In Big Six Race

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Rain and the schedule kept half of the Big Six race yesterday, but the other three members provided plenty of action and one change in the standing. Rogers Hornsby got two hits in four times at bat, Babe Ruth had a perfect day in the averages, getting one hit in one official trip to the plate. A sacrifice and walks took up the rest of the Babe's time.

SQUEEZE PLAY STILL THRILLS

Americans, was one of its most enthusiastic supporters. Finally it was learned that only a few batters on each club could execute the play profitably.

At first every batter on the New York club tried to add the squeeze to his bag of tricks. When the experimental stage had passed Griffith allowed only Willie Keeler and Hal Chase to pull it. These two batters were particularly adapted to the play. They could shift their feet and bunt wide pitches as well as perfect ones.

Chase was the best and most daring squeeze play performer of all time. Chase flashed only one signal to the runner, with the understanding that he should start for home on each succeeding delivery till the play failed or went over. Chase succeeded in the vast majority of attempts.

BEAUTIFUL BUNT.
At Detroit one day he decided to try the squeeze on Red Donohue, one of the craziest pitchers of his time. Chase fouled four successive pitches, and laid down a beautiful bunt on the fifth attempt, scoring the runner.

The Washington players of the Harris regime were the most successful squeeze play manipulators in the history of the game. The play added this club greatly in winning two pennants. It was an obsession with Manager Harris. Peckinpaugh, Bluege, Judge and Kuel were the other Washington players who had the opposition on edge in close games because of this play.

But it remained for the Yankees to pull a new angle to the trick by inventing it with two men out. Outfielder Pascal beat Cleveland last year in the tenth inning, by dumping a bunt and beating it out while the run was scoring. Babe Ruth pulled it in a most astounding manner last week against the Athletics. Two were out and Combs scored from third on the squeeze hit, making the count three to three. The Yankees won in the fourteenth.

New York Bouts Are Postponed

New York, July 1.—(AP)—Inclement weather forced postponement of the New York's two boxing shows today. The Dexter park show, featuring a battle between Baby Joe Gans, Los Angeles negro welterweight, and Harry Wallace, was postponed until Wednesday night, and the Joe Glick-Patsy Ruffalo fray at the coliseum was put off until next week.

Passenger Accounts Beat Traffic Team

Passenger Accounts department played steady baseball to defeat Traffic department in the Southern Railway league Monday afternoon, 7 to 3. The victors took the lead in the first inning and kept adding to the total as the game progressed. The Traffic department players were held at bay throughout by Mitchell except for a tally in the first inning and a desperate last-inning rally which netted two runs.

The winners piled up a total of nine hits while the losers were good for but four. For the winners Reid, Dennard, Hurst and Nesbit were each good for two hits, while Hipps, the losing pitcher, made two safeties for his side.

French Tourist Season Lags; REMEDY OF SITUATION STIRS HOTEL OFFICIALS Abolition of Taxes Debated

Paris, July 1.—(AP)—The summer tourist season has been such a disappointment thus far that it promises to be given less satisfactory than that of last winter. Government traffic officials, hotelmen and tourist agencies already are discussing means of remedying the situation.

Abolition of the embarkation and disembarkation taxes levied upon every tourist, repeal of luxury taxes and the raising of 20,000,000 francs ($300,000) as a fund for an intensive propaganda drive throughout the world and especially in the United States, are some of the panaceas that are being considered.

"Although it is too soon to say that the summer season will prove as much of a fiasco as the winter season, the fact remains that the season thus far has been disappointing," said a high official of the French government tourist agency today. "It is no secret that the government has about decided to abolish the landing and sailing taxes and the luxury tax may also go."

Government Unfavored.

Repeal of the luxury tax, varying between 5 and 18 per cent, has not yet made much progress in favor of the government.

The finance committee of the chamber of deputies is working on a bill in the present session to do away with the luxury tax under the ardent pressure of French hotel men who complain that it is responsible for many of the empty rooms in their hotels. But the press of work, especially in connection with debt ratifications, is so great that the chamber probably will not find time to consider the bill.

Only one million francs have thus far been raised for the 20,000,000 franc propaganda fund.

The French official tourist agency complains: "The indications are that American tourists this year are showing a preference for England and Germany. It is true that these countries are spending millions in propaganda and have abolished all the vexatious laws which irritate American tourists visiting France."

Confirm Slackers.

American shipping interests here confirm this.

With reference to the complaints of hotel keepers, it was pointed out that 50 new hotels were added during the past year to the already long list of hotels in Paris.

The American Express Company furnished the only optimistic note. The company said it was handling the same volume of business as in 1928.

A committee of mayors from many cities, towns and resorts in France has been formed to co-operate with French chambers of commerce and automobile associations to put "France on the map," as they term it.

Heavy stock market losses in the United States and the continued fall of the price of wheat, were reasons alleged by a representative of this committee for the smaller number of American tourists.

"Thousands of Americans who make a European trip out of their stock market profits must remain home this year," he said.

APARTMENT HOUSE ROBBERY SERIES LAID TO NEGROES

Two negroes believed to have been responsible for a series of more than a dozen apartment robberies in the neighborhood of Ponce de Leon and North avenues, Monday night were being held at police headquarters following their arrest by Officers Crankshaw and McGill.

The suspects, giving their names as J. A. Jones, 18, and Will Neal, 21, were arrested early Monday morning as they were loitering on Ponce de Leon avenue, near Peachtree street. Taken to headquarters they confessed to seven apartment robberies, the officers said. It is thought that on further questioning they will admit even further depredations, the policemen stated.

The most recent robbery was last Friday night at the apartment of R. C. Little, at 316 North avenue. Other apartments which the negroes were said to have looted are those of Mrs. B. B. Bonner, of 759 Peachtree street; C. C. Nantbell, of 310 North avenue; Owen Park and F. L. Miller, of the same address; M. T. Benson, of 199 Argonne avenue; and Joe Taylor, of 311 Ponce de Leon avenue.

Despite a veto of Mayor L. N. Ragdale, council Monday afternoon voted to make Pryor street from Peachtree to the Pryor street viaduct non-parking on both sides of the thoroughfare at all times. The vote was 24 to 9 to override the mayor's veto.

Mr. Ragdale, who is running for sheriff, had announced himself as a candidate. Running on the ticket with him is James Hucksby, former deputy sheriff for the past several years a popular member of the local police force.

Mr. D. D. Stapleton, widow of the late sheriff, has announced herself as a deputy on the ticket with Oscar McGee, who is running for sheriff. Mr. McGee had been serving as deputy under Sheriff Stapleton.

RESEARCHER DIES
Hunting Fever Remedy Sac-cumbs to It.

New York, July 1.—(AP)—Dr. Paul A. Lewis, bacteriologist, yesterday died of yellow fever, a disease which he was studying, the Rockefeller foundation announced today.

Dr. Lewis was connected with the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research at Princeton, N. J., and was one of a small group of Americans who were working on the prevention methods in combating yellow fever.

Man to Face United States
Court On Charges Preferred
By White Man.

Americus, Ga., July 1.—(Special).—W. Drew Arnold, Sr., prominent Webster county farmer, will go on trial Tuesday on charges of peonage.

John Vanover, a negro, and Claude King, a white man, are the complaining witnesses against Arnold. These witnesses have been in custody of federal authorities since they testified before a district grand jury at Americus, Ga., last week. Both have been held in Clarke county jail, and early tonight Sheriff W. P. McArthur declined to say whether or not the men had been transferred to Sumter county or were in his custody.

Arnold, who is well known in Americus, operates a large farm in Webster county in what is known as "Gooseberry district," and has previously had trouble with a neighbor whom he alleges is at the bottom of the peonage charge made against him. He has employed W. E. Maynard, of Macon, and Judge James A. Hixon as counsel. Veto was not made in the prosecution by W. A. Boote, district attorney, at Americus.

Mr. Arnold lives in Webster county on a farm adjoining the famous "singing well" which has recently been given much publicity in the newspapers. He has declined upon the advice of his counsel to talk with newspaper reporters concerning the case.
